MICKOOS FLOCK WITH REPUBLICANS ITINGS The Press of Kentucky Denounce the Louisville Papers as Traitors-Nothing but Treachery Can Defeat Hardin. Bowling Green, Ky., August 26 .- (Special correspondence.)-"The set of men does not live," sald General Hardin today, who can put a ring in my nose and a colar around my neck." This spirited language shows how the emocratic gubernatorial candidate resents the impudence of the goldbug cabal in Louisville, which tried to force his withdrawal from the canvass on Saturday last. The consequence of that attempt has been that the people have been stirred up as they never were before, and that this week's tour of the state is marked with an enthusiasm which shows that the democratic people of Kentucky will not be dictated to by the republican city of Louisville and their natural allies-the socalled democratic goldbugs. There was a ring about General Hardin's utterances in the joint debate here today which bespoke his assertion of the entire leadership of

The Situation Stated. In order to thoroughly understand the onditions which surrounded the joint debate of today a few words may be necessary. As may be inferred from the earlier parts of this correspondence, that state convention held in Louisville was a wonderfully manipulated body. A clear and distinct majority was elected pledged to General Wat Hardin for the governorship and to the views on finance which he represented. Carlisle and his henchman. Watterson, the venal editor of The Courier-Journal, who had pledged the state to Clevelandism, resorted to all the tricks known in politics to pervert the finding of the people. When the convention met, with many delegates who held federal office, with delegates who were under personal obligation to Watterson and Carlisle for favors in the past; with still others who had not the strength of their onvictions, it could not be swerved from the nomination of Wat Hardin, but it was cajoled into readopting the Chicago plank as a truce, so that the existing standing of individuals would not be disturbed. That this is true I have on the personal authority of Charles L. Long, chairman of the state executive committee, and his fellow committeemen, Hon. John T. Hodge, of Covington. The scene was in Mr. Long's office in Louisville. Mr. Hodge it was who made the statement that the financial plank was in the nature of a truce, and owed its passage to the votes of the silver delegates. The statement was so important that, although it was made in Chairman Lodge's presence, I repeated it distinctly to him, and he agreed to it, accompanying it by the declaration that he deprecated the conduct of The Courier-Journal in its extreme one-sided discussion of the same, and that the candidates were entitled to hold their opinions as they always had. The Conspirators Defeated. Now for the point. It is this same Chairman Long, who, upon General Hardin's auditorium speech, rushed about like a wet hen consorting with kickers and traitors to the democratic party. In response to the suggestions of bolters and traitors he called for a meeting of the state committee on Saturday last, the well-understood purpose of which was to force General Hardin to retire from the race. Three of the men whom he sought to have present with the committee were the bolting editors of the Anzieger and The Post, and the deserter, Henry Watterson, who was doing his deadly work from within. It developed, to the astonishment of Chairman Long, that the committee was sound on the financial question, and that it did not want to be addressed by party reprobates. The upshot was the complete defeat of the gold conspirators, who may now go into republican ranks, where they properly belong, and leave democrats to aght their own battles, without spies withn camp. A subcommittee was also appointed to prepare an address to the people of Kentucky, rallying them to the banner of democracy. A letter read in committee from Senator Lindsay shows the utterly imprincipled tactics of those wedded to the golden calf. It was that there should be armony in the election of the state ticket -not for the success of the democratic party, mind you-but that the conspiraors could retain their points of vantage in the party, so they could better strangle

The report of these proceedings in The Courier-Journal of next day, has never een surpassed in mendacity and meanness. It but recalled the expression used by Colonel Bradley, the republican candito indorse its party candidate: "It was cowardly, cowardly!"

It led him into further declaration that not only would ie, if elected govenor of the state, in case of a senatorial vacancy, appoint a man who was in favor of the full and equal coinage of both metals, but he added sig-afficantly, "I would not under any circum-Hances appoint a man whose votes or words would be given to prolong the crime

McCreary, who is Presiden Cleveland's special spokesman in the national house of representatives, in his race to secure Senator Blackburn's seat is no content with pushing his own cause, but on the stump he is attacking the head of the state democratic ticket, while he has nothing but words of praise for his republican rival. General Buckner, another cuckoo, has outstripped all those of his class by leaving behind him not only the national and the state platform, but he boldly declares himself in favor of the gold standard. As it is with these so it is with all the leading goldbugs in Kentucky. The Courier-Journal has to this day withheld ts editorial support from the democracy of the state, and is doing more effective work for the republican party than if it were to come out at once boldly as a convert to the flag of Ben Harrison.

Public Opinion Through the State.

The Critic, a spirited Sunday paper print ed in Louisville, attests that "in the coun try Flardin's course has aroused great enthusiasm. . . The little assaults of the daily press of this city will help him as it has helped Blackburn. There is a well-settled conviction in the minds of the democrats of the state that Wall street has bagged the whole newspaper outiit here, boots and breeches. The country papers are rallying to Hardin's support, and they denounce the city dailies as cowards, traitors and conspirators." The remarks of some of the country newspapers show how thoroughly they are waked up. The Nelson Record, for instance, says: "There is not a democratic daily paper in Louisville. The Courier-Journal, Times and Post are edited by a set of political cutthroats so unmercifully vindictive that an ordinary brigand would be transfigured by contrast. Ever since the state convention these three papers, realizing the barrenness of their recent alleged victory, have threatened the defeat of Wat Hardin if he stood by his colors. He has been incessantly hounded from that day to this in the effort to compel him to declare allegiance to a thing he does not believe in. He has refused to be driven, and what is the result? The vile rags mentioned above, which pass for daily newspapers, without exception, have attacked him, on the heels of his first debate with Bradley, and are now engaged in an endeavor to defeat the state ticket. They are still giving us the same old claptrap that the party must be saved, and at the same time doing their utmost to destroy it. There is a well-defined suspicion abroad that the hitherto democratic press of Louis ville is venal and corrupt; that the mem bers of it have no principles-except such as favorably affect their pocket!"

The whole situation is well told by The Henderson Gleaner when it says: "The entire Louisville press is about to bolt the democratic ticket, because they could not induce the head of the ticket to follow them into the republican camp. Of what use is the democratic party if it is used as a tool to pull republican chestnuts out of the fire? But then," continues The Gleaner. "let them go! Blackburn has shown that it is quite possible to win in Kentucky in has won the fight. The senator himself despite of the opposition of the entire clared at 11 o'clock that the United Press Louisville press, and General Hardin will do likewise."

Carlisle Lacks the Nerve.

The effort to bring John G. Carlisle into the race for the senatorship is a signal that the bolters recognize that Blackburn has his present opponents beaten. The suggestion has excited general ridicule, and is spoken of as "Carlisleism run mad. There isn't a bigger political coward on earth than John G. Carlisle. He has never yet faced a desperate situation. The mere thought of a hard contest would drive him into retirement for six months When there are party favors to be handed around on a golden salver, Carlisle is always at the front, sly, modest and shrinking, but eager nevertheless. * * * Blackburn cannot be pushed aside by any hand of Wall street money lenders with Carlisle at their head. Blackburn is in touch with the people. He is not a convert, railing today at the principles he defended on yesterday."

The declaration of General Hardin, that he is a candidate "without ring or collar." will catch the country people, who will city of Louisville do not defeat the ticket. As that city is republican by a majority of 5,000, the people know they have to beat it anyhow.

The situation in Kentucky, while perilous for the party, in one sense, is full of hope in another. Those who would throttle and misrepresent the party, by consorting with strange gods, have been fully exposed, so that for the future they will be powerless for evil. They are rightly placed as allies of republicanism, whose only connection with democracy has been to load it down with legacies of republicanism. The party, freed from these barnacles, is now in a position to represent the true wishes of the people, and they can find in it the organ through which they can accomplish the great work of relief that is necessary to the restoration of prosperity in this country. The welkin rang during that part of General Hardin's speech here in which he

THE COMBINE HIDES ITS HAND!

Ingratitude Gets Its Due-The Senator's Victory Is a Popular One Outside the State as Well as in It.

Harrisburg, Pa., August 27 .- Harrisburg is in a turmoil tonight, the like of which was never known. There have been many turbulent political conventions here, but the crowds which have been assembling since Sunday as a preliminary to the republican state convention tomorrow far exceed in rumbers and in boisterousness any githering that has ever been here.

There are several thousand more persons in the city than can possibly be accommodated with sleeping quarters, and as the weather is misty, the outlook for the comfort of the crowds of "rooters" is not one of comfort.

Chairman Gilkeson, who refuses to act with the majority of the 121 members of the state committee in the preparation of a roll of delegates, the majority being Quay adherents, today secured possession of the of era house from a theatrical company that was billed to appear there tonight and late this afternoon placed sixty or more ablebodied men in the building to hold it against the enemy. These guardians will "hold the fort" all night and should the "Quay forces" attempt to secure an entrance during the night, there will surely be Chairman Thomas V. Cooper, of Delaware county, was yesterday chosen temporary chairman, met this morning. Seventy-eight members were present.

Temporary Chairman Cooper called for the report of the subcommittee on credentials and Lieutenant Governor Lyon, chairman of the committee, reported in favor of the Quay delegates in the first and fifth wards of Philadelphia, and the delegates favorable to Quay in Wyoming county. The report was adopted and the state committee met again at 11 o'clock to hear the final report on credentials. With respect to the Philadelphia contests, the committee found that Delegates Beyerlein, Deputy, Gray and Fulmer, the Quay men, carried twenty-nine divisions of the first ward. and Senator Becker carried fourteen of the eighteen divisions of the fifth ward. As to the Wyoming county contest, the committee found that R. P. Northrop, the Hastings delegate, was chosen at a convention called last January to fill a vacancy in congress, and this was in violation of a longstanding rule of the party, which provides that delegates to state conventions must not be elected more than six months before the convening of the convention. At a conference of the Quay delegates tonight 158 delegates responded to the roll call. Of this number six were contestants, five from Philadelphia and one from Wyoming county. As a majority of the convention is 145, it is evident that Senator Quay could announce as a matter of fact that the fight is over and that he has won.

The friends of Senator Quay packed the board of trade rooms tonight, when the caucus was held with open doors. Lieuten-ant Governor Lyon called the gathering to order and nominated State Senator Penrose of Philadelphia, for chairman of the cau-cus. Mr. Penrose, who is one of Senator Quay's most ardent supporters, was chosen with a "hurrah." On motion Mr. Quay was invited to be present, and arriving, addressed the caucus as follows:

"I understand that a clear majority of he delegates elected to the state convention are present. In that case, the fight that has been convulsing the state of Pennsylvania for two months is settled. It was a fair fight and in the interest of pure gov ernment. It was a gallant fight against heavy odds, but the next time you will win by an overwhelming majority, as the peo-ple are with you."

Presently Mr. Inman walked on deck, and had just started down to order success when the started down to order success the started d ints started down to order supper when he noticed the Perseus was on us. FOR THE SENATE.

Dick Clark, of Mobile, Is a Candidate for Pugh's Seat.

THREE OTHER GOLDBUGS AFTER IT

Friends of Governor Oates Would Like To Get Clark on the Gubernstorial Trail. Bankhead Is All Right.

Montgomery, Ala., August 27.-(Special.) In an interview in The Washington, D. C., News Congressman R. H. Clark, of the first Alabama district, yesterday formally an-nounced his candidacy for the United States senate to succeed Senator Pugh. He announces that he will make the fight for the gold standard as opposed to free coina at 16 to 1, and states that he believes should be held tomorrow Alabams would vote for the single gold stand-ard. He says he sees every day evidences that the cause of silver is losing ground in

This announcement, while by no means mexpected, will fall as a blight on the fond hopes of many a goldbug, who had hoped that Mr. Clark would be a candidate for the democratic nomination for governor, and will not have a tendency to make Governor Oates enjoy his holiday. The governor, it will be remembered, is an ced candidate of two years' standing. During the campaign preceding his nomination, he stated on the stump that nomination, he stated on the stump that he desired to be governor one term only, and then to go to the senate. Since his election, and very recently in fact, he has reiterated this desire. Heaven and earth have been moved, it is stated, by the administration politicians in this state and the state of th in Washington to prevail on the governor to stand for re-election, and let Dick Clark to to the senate, but up to date he has turn ed them down. His promise has been pub licly made, he naturally argues, to ask the people for only one term. Upon the day of his nomination here he stated in the Exchange hotel that he would never be a candidate again and that Joe Johnston's friends must not feel discouraged as they would soon have another chance at the prize. About two months ago, in conversa tion with two other ex-governors, Governor Oates reiterated his determination to not accept the office again. In vain have the politicians worked on the governor. In vain have they argued to him that it could go forth that the good of the party de though his views are not as extreme as those of Mr. Clark, He has always held to Mr. Cleveland as the head of the party, although he has reserved the privilege of differing with him when he feels inclined. It will be remembered that two years ago, while in congress, he voted for the free coinage of silver at a ratio of 20 to 1. He does not believe, like Mr. Clark, that "the king can do no wrong." He acknowledges that Mr. Cleveland is hable, like other to make mistakes, but he does not believe it is good party policy at this time to advertise the president's blunders. Governor Oates is not in the state and does not authorize this statement, but this is about ay he is known to feel. nel H. C. Tompkins is also likely to be a candidate for the senate. He is abroad sent, but will return about November the chances are he will enter for the executive committee and naturally has a fine pull with the politicians. He is the foremost lawyer of the state, a man of magnificient capacity, and while he has been an energetiq political worker for years, he has never been rewarded with many political honors. He is also against silver and a right considerable enthusiast for a gold standard.

Ex-Governor Thomas Seav. of Greensboro, has not announced that he is a candifor the senate, but he has not denied repeated newspaper statements that he is. Governor Seay was Governor Jones's decessor and he is very strong with the iticians and the people. He is a sound ney man, but he has not been mixed up financial struggle, not having taker part in politics for several years, nd therefore has not antagonized anybody. It will be seen that with these four strong bugs practically already in the race Mr. Clark has no sort of cinch on the senate. He will have to down all of them and then tackle the nominee of the silver men, whoever he may be. It seems that the and are preparing to center all of their energies on the fight for the senator. They have all sorts of wheels working, however, and there will have to come several more turns before the workings of the machinery of their campaign can be clearly seen

It is supposed at the department the name of the office may have been altered in transmission over the cable and it is possible that the name should be Hsu-Yung-I, a well-known metropolitan officer, who for many years was vice president of the board of works and has also been of late years a minister to the tsung il yamen. It is stated at the department that men. It is stated at the department that whether or not this is a mistaken idea the person appointed appears from his name to unquestionably belong to the family of this well-known minister. The wording of Minister Denby's cablegram leads the department to believe that the commis-sioner has been sent from Peking and the inference is given out at the department that Minister Denby has given ample in-structions to Consul Hixson and that he is enjoying all facilities necessary to carry out his instructions at Ku Cheng.

It does not appear from Mr. Denby's dispatch that he has succeeded in straightening out the complication caused by the refusal of the Chinese officials at Kucheng to permit the American and British commissioners to attend the inquiry into the massacre. That is the most interesting phase of the situation, and a speedy adjustment of it in favor of the joint commission is desired. It is probable, how-ever, that the taotal sent to co-operate with Consul Hixson will start a new investigation in behalf of the general gov-ernment of China, thus superseding the officials who are now making inquiry, presumably under authority of the viceroy

Mr. Horan says that in many respects this display of the Smithsonian institution will excell all former in this line and that many of the features have been especially arranged with reference to the south. The work of preparing the exhibit of the war department is almost complete. The collection of firearms from the days of the old blunderbus to the modern rapid-firing rifle is arranged along the wall of the northwestern section of the building. Types of soldiers in their regulation from the time of Cromwell stand in rows fronting the ominous machine guns, and a squad of mounted cavalrymen are drawn up in line near by.

Just opposite the war department is the naval exhibit, which is already prepared. Here everything pertaining to the navy and its work has been placed on show. The models of small gunboats and different versule gare elaborate. vessels are elaborate. The exhibit of the department of agriculture, which is under the immediate su-pervision of Mr. Charles Dodge, will be the most complete ever shown in this cour ry. This show has been arranged with especial reference to the south and her agric tural products, The branches in this dis-play are as follows: Weather bureau, bu-reau of animal industry, divisions of ornithology, mammology, entomology, fiber investigation, pomology, vegetable soils and exhibition of the botany. In addition is an experimental station of the department and a bureau of information in which is placed several hundred velumes of lore on the subject of agriculture. Skilled Workmen in Great Demand at the Exposition Ground. Contractors and exhibitors at the expos tion grounds complain of a serious lack of skilled carpenters. The demand seems be greatly in excess of the supply, and the demand is constantly increasing, Already many of the buildings on the grounds bear signs, "Carpenters wanted," and as the days pass this want become more emphatic. There is an over supply of laborers of the unskilled variety, but first-class workmen, such as are needed in construction, are not to be had.

The putting up of exhibits, which will set in in earnest next week, will create a demand for many more good workmen. They will be offered higher prices by the exhibitors, and consequently will leave the contractors. One contractor complained yesterday that twenty workmen had left him on account of higher prices elsewhere. Mr. Grant Wilkins said yesterday that there was immediate need of quite a num ber of good workmen at the grounds.

"This is a matter that should receive at-tention at once," said President Collier yesterday. "The work of putting in ex-hibits may be seriously retarded or work

THE CITY IS CALLED ON TO PAY UP

A Negro Arrested for Murdering the Paul cumstantial Evidence Strong.

Macon, Ga., August 27 .- (Special.)-The bond commission of the city of Macon has made demand on the mayor and council of Macon for $21,000 past due, and unless the amount is immediately paid the commission will take legal steps by mandamus or some other court procedure to enforce payment in compliance with the law This action is in conformity with a resolution just passed at a meeting of the commission. By special act of the legislature the city of Macon is required to pay annually $50,000 to the commission of which sum the commission applies $32, 750 to the payment of interest coupons or the old 6s bonds of the city, and appropriates $17,250 to the sinking fund to retire maturing bonds. This $17,250 can either be reinvested in bonds of loaned. The law requires the $50,000 to be paid in quarterly payments, of $12,500 each, on the first day of January, April, July and October. There would, therefore, be due now $37,500, and in about thirty days the remaining $12,500 will be due. Of this entire sun the city has paid this year only $1,000. The commission thinks there is no effort being made by the city to pay the money due, and it sees no immediate prospect of getting the payment, unless rigid measures are adopted. The resolu-tion passed by the commission provides tion passed by the commission provides that demand be made of the city for the immediate payment of $25,000, less $4,000 that has been paid, and if payment is not made promptly to enforce it by law Half of the city's taxes have been paid in, and all have been expended. It is interesting to know how the city can make payment from this year's revenue meet current expenses. At the city council meeting tonight communication was read from President Brown, of the bond commission, transmitting to the mayor and council a resolution passed by the bond commission demanding the payment of the money due it by the city or legal steps would be taken to enforce payment. The communication and the resolution were referred to the finance

. The city was authorized to issue $200,000 of bonds to build a system of sanitary sewers. Gaboury & Noble contracted to build them for $100,000. But by reason of the expense of the city's engineering corps and elaborate grading done on Ocmulgee and other streets incident to the construction of the sewers it is estimated that the cost of the system will be at least $150,000. The bond commission agreed to buy all the sewer bonds that it was able, its ability in this particular being about $130,000 when the city makes this year's payment. The commission has bought from the city at par $90,000 of these bonds and paid the cash money to the city. Of this amount the city has expended about $79,000, leaving a balance in the treasury of $11,000 to pay about $12,000 or $15,000 that is now due or will soon be due to the sewer contractors. In order to have the money on hand with which to pay the contractors the city desired the bond commission at its present eting to buy $10,000 more of sewer bonds, but in compliance with the wish of the sewer advisory committee the sale has een temporarily deferred until a state-19,000 expended has been spent by the cit sewer construction, or whether some of it has not been spent on street work not properly chargeable to the sewer account.

Commission's Statement. Captain R. H. Brown, the able president efficient chairman of the bond commissi of the city. His books are always open to the inspection of all citizens.

The statement of the bond commissi and sinking fund account at this date is as follows: Bond commission on coupon as follows: Bond commission on coupor account, cash on hand subject to outstand ing and maturing coupons, $4,951.50. List of property of the sinking fund account: Loans, $1,000; market house bonds, $20,000; 29 31/2 Georgia coupon bonds, $29,000; ninety sewer bonds bought and rold total, $140,000. Cash on hand to buy sewer bonds, $12,854.39; total, $152,854.39.

Of course, when the city pays the commission the $50,000 due this year the commission will have about $17,250 more that can be applied to the purchase of sewer bonds.

can be applied to the purchase of sewer bonds.

The assessed valuation of city property is about $14,000,000. At 7 per cent, the constitutional limit, Macon can issue $890,000 of bonds. She has already issued $765,800, provided the entire issue of $200,000 of sewer bonds is sold. The $765,000 of bonds are divided as follows: Old 6s bonds, $545,800; market house bonds, $20,000; sewer bonds already issued, $90,000; balance of sewer bonds allowed, $110,000. Macon, therefore, has the right to issue $214,200 more bonds.

The Constitution this morning told of the Arrested for Murder.

The Constitution this morning told of the murder last night of the negro woman, Mary Lou Paul, but it was not known last night who shot and killed her. This morning at 7:30 o'clock Policemen Lee Grace and Henry arrested two negroes, Loyett Bryant and William Matthews, on suspicion. Later Matthews was released and Bryant kept in prison, as circumstances pointed to his guilt. Matthews states that he was in the room with the woman last night between 7 and 8 o'clock talking with her, when Lovett Bryant called and seemed to be vexed with her because she spoke to another negro, Charley Douglass, Saturday night in a store down town, and said if he had caught Douglass at her home some-body would have been killed. Matthews says he departed for his home about 8 o'clock and left Bryant lying across the foot of the bed with a pistol in his hand. The woman was sitting in a chair near an open window. In about a half hour after Matthews left the woman was killed. Shews found dead sitting in a chair alone in the room, her head resting on the window sill.

R. J. Morse, a negro who worked with the room, her head resting on the window sill.

R. J. Morse, a negro who worked with Bryant at the Winn-Johnson Company, declares that he and Bryant started home last night about 7 o'clock and stopped at the woman's house. Bryant walked up to the window and spoke angrily to the woman. Bryant told Morse that he was going home, get his pistol and kill somebody. Morse states that Bryant told him this morning about 6 o'clock that he killed the woman last night, but for him not to tell any one about it, and if any one accused him of the crime that Morse must say he carried him (Bryant) home drunk last night at half past 6 o'clock.

This afternoon Bryant denies that he did the killing.

Another link in the chain of evidence against Lovett Bryant is that last night he took his brother-in-law's pistol out of his trunk and presumably killed the woman with this weapon. The pistol has not yet been found.

He has left the matter of finding a desirable site to Mr. C. H. Dorsett, a prominent real estate dealer here. His idea is to have put up a $300,000 office building with a theater in the rear and he thinks it would pay at least 10 per cent. Mr. H. T. Rogers, a steward in Ocone street church and an old man honored and respected by his fellow men, returned today from High Shoals, where he had been attending a revival held at the Methodist church at that place, Mr. Rogers tells the following awe-inspiring story of an incident that happened at the shoals Sunday afternoon, and he says it has created a great deal of excitement

The revival has been going on about on week, Rev. J. T. Lowe, a consecrated Methodist minister, having charge of it. A great deal of interest was manifested in it and large numbers of people attended the meetings.

Among other citizens of High Shoals is Mr. William Haygood, an old gentleman who moved there a short while ago from Princeton Factory. He was marshal of the town of Princeton. Mr. Haygood is an honest, hard-working old man, and for many years was a member of the Methodist church. Lately he has taken up the doctrine of unbelief, preaching against heaven and hell, declaring that no such places exist, and denying many of the claims of Christians as set forth in the Testament. During the the meeting at High Shoals last week, Mr. Haygood would go to the meetings at the church and then collect a crowd of men together and attempt to answer the arguments of the preacher. He declared that the preacher was talking that there was nothing in it, and that they wasted their time in going to the meetings. In such a vein he went on, throwing cold water on the revival whenever he got an opportunity. Sunday afternoon the services had been concluded, and a crowd collected around Mr. Haygood at Mr. Medlin's store, at the shoals. Haygood was proceeding in his usual way to argue against the meeting, and the men were listening to what he was learned to be able to state that they had to say. if rooted to the spot. The old man had started a sentence when he suddently peal to the people to pay the amount to supplement the school fund. There are about 1,300 pupils enrolled and the fees colstopped. He attempted to complete it, but he could not utter one syllable. The erowd was dumfounded, but hoped old man would soon come around old man would soon come around all right. But the minutes slipped by and borhood of $1,000, which means about a nonth's pay roll for the schools. The taking off of this would amount to the restill that tongue was silenced. Those were the questions asked by the crowd of themselves and a holy awe spread through the crowd.

Mr. Haygood went to his home, and everything possible was done to restore his speech, but the golden gift came not back. The incident was heralded throughout the town, and there were more prayerful hearts there Sunday night than before in the history of High Shoals. Monday morning came, and at the ar pointed hour the meeting was opened at the Methodist church. Mr. Rogers, coming along the road, met Mr. Haygood and ed his lips, for his tongue could not move During the progress of the meeting Mr. Rogers had to take charge in the place of Mr. Lowe, the pastor, who had become very much exhausted by reason of preach-Mr. Rogers was leading the meeting and was delivering a discourse on infidelity, telling his experience in discussion with an unbeliever once, and he noticed Mr. Havgood, who sat in of him. Mr. Haygood began to tremble and his hands and body shook perceptibly. Tears streamed from his eyes and rolled down his cheek, but the quivering lips could not fashion words to express his thoughts. The congregation noticed him, and looked on with wonder.

He drew a pencil and a piece of paper from his pocket and wrote nervously a few lines. Then he passed the paper up to the pulpit to Mr. Rogers, who read it aloud to the congregation.

At the meeting of council last night notices were ordered to be served on property owners in various parts of the city to lay down brick pavements in front of their property. On Main street, in the fifth ward, there is a long stretch of unpaved sidewalks, all of which is included in the order, as are all the unpaved fronts on Broad street, in the business portion of the city. It was as follows:
"I am doomed to hell. There is a hell
Pray for me. WILLIAM HAYGOOD." The effect upon that congregation was electrical. It seemed as if they were perfectly awe-stricken. The services proceeded, and the religious feeling manifested was very noticeable. In the presence of such a striking incident, the hardest of sinners quivered and became Broad street, in the business portion of the city.

The order catches the property owners at a most unfortunate season just at the end of the long dull summer and before the fall trade has opened up and there will likely be a good deal of petitioning for postponement until cash is more plentiful. alarmed at his state of mind.

alarmed at his state of mind.

The next service was Monday night, and on that occasion Mr. Haygood was on hand, but still the power of speech was denied him. He could hear, he could feel, he could see, he could walk, but not one syllable could he utter. When the mourners were called for he went to the altar and fell upon his knees in silent prayer. He arose and went back to his seat in the congregation, but he did not feel as if pardon had yet come, and still he spoke not.

Major Black Declines.

A few days since the Commercial Club of Athens extended to Hon. J. C. C. Black a cordial invitation to address the club and the people of Athens upon the subject of money, Major Black being a strong advocate of the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1. Mr. T. W. Reed, secretary of the club, was today notified by Major Black that it would be impossible for him to accept the invitation, while appreciating the honor conferred upon him very much. He is just now getting down to a very active canvass of the tenth district in his race against Tom Watson, and his time is needed at home. The Commercial Club regrets Major Black's inability to be present in Athens and address the people, but will issue an equally urgent invitation to some other advocate of the white metal to come to Athens and speak to our people upon that subject.

Enthusiastic Session of Three Different Organizations Last Night.

BUILDING WILL BE ERECTED

It Will Be Placed Just in the Rear of the Woman's Building-Many Relies Will Be Shown.

That a building will be erected for the purpose of placing on display the relics of confederacy during the exposition is assured.

A joint meeting of the organization representing the confederacy was held last night in the hall of the Gate City Guard, and arrangements were definitely made for the erection of the confederate building and the placing of displays therein,

A full representation from the Confederate Veterans, and the Daughters of the Confederacy was present when Mr. Thomas B. Felder, president of the Sons of Conorder. Mrs. C. H. Plane was called to the

In a speech made in behalf of the proposition to put up the building, General C. A. Evans, said that he was glad that the movement was so well under way. He hoped to see exhibits that would show the true confederacy. Not only should all the relics of those days be shown, but he thought that a display illustrative of the life in the south during the war should fe thought that a display illustrative of the life in the south during the war should be made. The clothes worn in those days, the way they were manufactured, the implements of agriculture, the way the powder was made, and all other objects that would show just how the southern people lived during the war, their resources, in fact. General Evans also stated that he thought pictures of the various great battles in which the south was victorious should be obtained and placed upon the walls. Mr. Felder said that the Sons of Confederate Veterans were deeply interested in the scheme. They would pledge themselves to raise $1,000, and would do all in their power to get up the necessary funds.

He thought, however, that it would be well to have a committee of general arrangements appointed, and proposed that five from each organization should be named. The committee of fifteen is: From the Confederate Veterans, General C. A. Evans, Mr. Henry H. Smith, Colonel W. L. Calhoun, Dr. D'Alvigny, Colonel L. P. The Next Step.

Is there an intelligent reader of the newspapers who has any doubt as to what the next step of the money power and its agents is to be? Before the first infamy-that of the single gold standard-has been entirely consummated, the bondholders and the money lenders, and such public men and politicians as they have under their control and in their pay have already begun to fulminate new "reforms" in finance which are intended to carry the democratic party farther than any political party has ever been carried in opposition to the interests of the people.

We have already heard from Chum Benedict on this line. It is well known that Chum Benedict, by reason of his standing as a millionaire and as the owner of a steam yacht, is the financial mouthpiece of the administration. Into his ears, in advance of all others, was poured the tender story of contemplated bond issues and other highly seasoned "reforms." To his keeping was given the "consecrated" secrets of things that were going to happen. Acting upon these touching confidences Banker Benedict promenaded up and down Wall street on several well-known occasions and pulled in four or five cool millions.

Consequently, when Banker Benedic rises and announces that the greenbacks and treasury notes must be retired, or he'll know the reason why, the various members of the cabinet who have not been admitted into the "consecrated" and inner circles of confidence, are making haste to get in on the ground floor of the new scheme. Morton took advan tage of a convenient slack in his rope to run right into the scheme headforemost, and Comptroller Eckels gets right into Morton says Benedict is exactly right Eckels says Benedict is exactly right; and Benedict says he will quit the democratic party forthwith unless it plants tself on a proposition to retire the green backs and treasury notes, which are now used to pull gold out of the treasury. There you have the scheme that is to be brought before congress in December under whip and spur. Having the single gold standard, we must contract the currency to fit it, and the only way to do that is to retire the greenbacks and the treasury notes. Benedict says he will quit the democratic party if it doesn't put a plank in its platform retiring these notes. This heavy loss to the party will undoubtedly be supplemented by the defection of Morton, of Eckels, and possibly of others of the like ilk.

No doubt all the hundred and one patronage organs will take up the cry, and the people will be asked if they want to descend to the levels of Argentina and Patagonia by keeping in existence a superabundance of paper money that draws out our gold and tends to create an unnecessary bonded indebtedness.

All this in the face of the fact that the democratic party voted in favor of the immediate reissue of greenbacks when they had been redeemed, and made itself the foe of contraction. That is the history of the democratic party since the Banker Benedict is no democrat: he does not even know the meaning of the term; and, as for Morgan and Eckels, they are mere touts and tools of the ney power.

When the new congress meets, it will e found that the Benedict plan has been ut and dried. Indeed, it was outlined n Mr. Cleveland's last financial mesge, in which he went away behind the lous and inconsequential recommendations of John G. Carlisle. In ssage, Mr. Cleveland suggested it would be a good thing to retire enbacks, giving as a reason the that the greenbacks were used to old out of the treasury. This ne argument when it is red that the greenbacks are not a gold, but in coin, and when remembered that the gold ich is now held to be so saprovided for by any law on lone for. They have been made the victims of as corrupt a conspiracy as ever disgraced the world's political records. They have been sold out, plastering and furniture, by those whom they selected to protect their interests. Consequently, when congress meets we shall see a most strenuous attempt made to retire the greenback currency. Precisely the same arguments will be used in favor of that scheme that were used to bring about the infamy of the single gold standard by the unconditional repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman act. The gold conspiracy will never be complete-the profits of the gold dealers will never be satisfactory until the paper currency of the country is contracted to fit the small stock of gold that we are able to keep in this country.

The same influences and the same arguments that were employed to bring about the unconditional repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman act will be employed to force the retirement of the greenback currency. The cuckoos and the patronage organs will lift up their small voices; in congress and out of it, the toadies, the tuft-hunters and the subsidized agents of the money power will be arrayed against the people. John Sherman will range the republican forces in behalf of the scheme, and as a result we shall have the repetition of the campaign for unconditional repeal.

So be it! The people may be defeated, but if they are it will be their own fault entirely. If they cannot stand up for their rights and interests-if they cannot elect honest men to congress-they do not deserve to have any rights. Those who profess now to be their friends will surely be put to the test when congress meets. The issue that will have to be faced is the retirement of the greenbacks and the treasury notes so as to make our currency conform to the requirements of the single gold standard, and thus make permanent that coossal infamy.

A Commendable Movement

The movement which was inaugurat ed at the veterans' meeting last night to make an exhibit of confederate relics at the exposition, is commendable, and should be encouraged. It is noteworthy that this movem s a result of joint effort on the part of the Confederate Veterans' Association the Daughters of the Confederacy, and the Sons of Confederate Veterans. It is illustrative of the lovalty of the south that these associations should be willing and ready to display to strangers and to quondam foes the relics that have been consecrated by the blood of their mem bers, their fathers and their sons.

The exhibit will be of peculiar inte est to those of our northern friends who participated in "the late unpleasantness' nd will be of general interest to the public.

It is to be hoped that our citizens will give the movement substantial support in order that the exhibit may be credi tably installed.

A Notable Speech.

The recent address delivered by the Hon. Pryor L. Mynatt before the Bimetallic League of DeKalb county dis cusses the currency question with so much fairness and so convincingly sets forth the reasons for bimetallism that we take pleasure in giving it a prominent place in this issue.

Colonel Mynatt is a thoughful student of our great economic problems. He is a man of conservative views, and when he takes his stand it is because his honest convictions and knowledge of the subject make it impossible for him to nain an indifferent spectat We believe that his speech will strike our readers as a remarkably able presentation of certain points in the currency problem, and they will find it very helpful in clearing away some of the fog which has followed in the wake of the gold standard missionaries. Colonel My natt's facts and arguments cannot fail to attract the attention of those who are really anxious to understand the workings of the single gold standard and bimetallism. He strips the question of its technicalities and makes it plain enough for the comprehension of every intelli gent thinker. Every producer and prop erty owner will have the ruinous results of gold monometallism recalled very vividly to him when he reads the latter part of the speech.

"Let 'Em Go, in God's Name!"

In the Kentucky campaign, General Hardin is standing up for democratic principles, Mr. Bradley is advocating re publicanism pure and simple and the Watterson-Carlisle gang are dangling out of a fourth-story window calling for the republicans to bring a net and catch them. But it is such an obstreperous crowd that we doubt very much whether the republicans would feel that their chances are improved by capturing and caging the gang.

General Hardin refused to be turned down by the tools, toadies and traitors who control certain members of the executive committee. He informed these creatures that he would neither come down nor cease to advocate democratic principles as he understood them. The ools, and toadies and traitors had nothing to do after this but to retire under the eaves of the headquarters of the whisky ring, and there console themselves as best they could. As for Hardin, he left the tools toadies and traitors refreshing themselves. went upon the stump again, and began to preach purer democratic doctrine than ever, if such a thing could be. His tilt with the subsidized agents of the goldbugs appears to have clarified his mind and sharpened his motives. In his last speech he declared that he would appoint as senator a man favorable to the free and unlimited coinage of silver, and in no case, nor under any consideration, would he appoint as senator a man who is in favor of the single gold standard In brief, Hardin is making a genuine democratic campaign, and will win unless he is defeated by the defection of Watterson-Carlisle gang, and if he is defeated, be will be defeated as a

his credit than if he succeeded as a detaocratic traitor. Watterson cannot see this, having shed his sensibility with his democratic principles; but the peo ple see it and appreciate it. There is now but one gubernatorial andidate in Kentucky representing the views of the Watterson-Carlisle gang, and that is Bradley, the republican can didate. Bradley is making a pretty warm campaign and is using to his own advantage the position of the Watterson Carlisle and whisky ring gang. He tells these traitors plainly that they are preaching republican doctrines, and it s the simple truth, which not even Wat terson, with all the gall that was necessary to lead him astray, has dared to dispute.

"Grover Cleveland," says Bradley, and those democrats who stand with him are allies of the republican party. The gold standard is the original repub liean policy. It was honest old John Sherman and his republicans, with the democratic minority, that saved the country. The success of General Har din means that Kentucky will send free silver democrats to the next democratic national convention." A voice in the audience cried, "That's what we want." Bradley replied, "You will drive out Watterson and Cleveland." Again came the voice, "Let 'em go, in God's name?"

That's what all true democrats can say, 'Let 'em go, in God's name!" We want none of them. Those who want to adrocate the single gold standard can do so consistently in the republican party

Signs of Social Demoralization. The frequent murders of husbands by wives, and wives by husbands, in this country should wake up our people to the terrible menace of our existing so cial conditions.

Our new civilization makes the hom nothing and the state everything. Parents no longer have the control which they formerly exercised over their children. The state is largely responsible for this through its system of public education. The relations between husband and wife are no longer universally regarded as something sacred. The state has weakened the marriage tie by ts loose divorce system.

Is it any wonder that we have wives and husbands and children and parents drifting apart and treating one another as they would strangers and enemies? Last week a Cincinnati wife kidnaped her husband and forced him to sign a deed to a valuable piece of real estate. and a Chicago daughter had a capias served upon her mother, demanding that she be sent to fail in default of a payment of a judgment for $150.

What is to become of our society when aillions of men and women cease to respect the ties of demestic relationship? t would be far better to go back to the old-time clannishness which linked famllies so closely together than to have the members of a household fighting each for himself, without regard to the ights and interests of the others.

We do not want the new woman he new man if they are too independent f home obligations. The old-fashioned nome, which is the outcome of the digine institution of marriage, is the foundation of the only civilization worth having, and when states and individ nals strike it down or weaken its influence they are inviting social demoralizaion and anarchy.

Some Cotton Facts.

As far back as 1787, when the cotton rop of this country was less than 8,000 bales, the first cotton mill was built at Beverly, Mass., and in 1791 the second was built at Providence.

Even at that early day the New Enganders saw the future profit in cotton manufacturing and they reached out for

In 1809 the cotton states had four mills. one in Georgia, one in South Carolina. one in Tennessee and one in Virginia while there were eighty-three in the northern states. Even Maine was ahead of Georgia in building cotton mills.

Looking backward to those days it is difficult to understand why our people neglected the manufacture of the raw material at their doors, and allowed mill wners at the other end of the country and over the sea to make fortunes out of the product which should have been nanufactured here at home and exported.

It was not because we lacked the facilities. The first steamship that ever crossed the Atlantic on other than a rial trip went from Savannah to Liverpool. Our ports were then better off for transportation to foreign countries than they are now. For years after the revolutionary war Charleston was a great mporting town. Yorktown, Va., had big importing trade, and merchants ame there from all the northern states to purchase goods. This was done early n the present century, when Virginia had the largest population of any state in the union. If we had at that time turned our attention to cotton mills our prosperity would have been assured. magnified the agricultural interest and eft manufacturing to outsiders, and in short time the south lost its import and export trade, and the markets shifted northward, and the drift of population naturally took that course.

Nearly a century later we are trying repair our past negligence by building cotton mills and encouraging direct trade with Europe. We have gone far enough to make it evident that the south the most profitable field for cotton manufacturing, and all that we have to do is to continue our efforts in that direction.

It is one of the curiosities of history to see this section now attempting to re gain what it might easily have controlled a century ago. We can soon become the leading section in the cotton mili industry, and in time see our ports again crowded with foreign shipping, but it it almost appalling to think of our long neglected opportunities which, in the hands of strangers, have enriched both old and New England. What could our people have been thinking of when they toiled for generaions to produce the world's greatest staple, and allowed it to impoverish them and build up the cotton mill barons of Manchester and Massachusetts? Do they even now realize the fact that in order to make cotton profitable they

Re Asks the Exposition To Investigate the Justice of 10 Cent Fares.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO DO SO A Discussion in the Executive Board Over the Request-Will Investigate

at Once. Mr. Joel Hurt has asked the exposition ompany to investigate the justice of the 10-cent fare to be charged by the Consolidated for passage to the exposition grounds, and the executive board has undertaken the task. A committee consisting of Directors Alex W. Smith, Frank P. Rice and James R. Wylie was appointed at yesterday afterncon's meeting to make the investigation. This committee will at once proceed to look into the facts upon which the increased charge is based. Shortly after Chairman English called the exposition board to order yesterday afternoon, President Collier presented a letter which he had received from President Hurt, of the Consolidated. Mr. Hurt asked that in view of the discussion that had been aroused over the announcement that his line would charge a fare of 10 cents to the exposition grounds, and as that discussion was injurious' to his company, the city of Atlanta and the exposition company, he asked that the exposition management name a committee to meet the executive committee of the Consolidated company to scertain all the facts relating to the increased charge. He stated that the Consolidated had arranged for the most com-plete transportation facilities ever offered on a similar occasion. He stated that his executive committee would meet the exposition committee at any time the latter committee might name, and that he would invite representatives of the Atlanta Street Railway Company, a competitive ine, to be present. Mr. Hemphill moved that the communication be referred to the committee on

Mr. Alex W. Smith thought a special committee of three ought to be appointed investigate the matter. It was an act of simple justice to a powerful Atlanta

"Next to hotel accommodations," said he, "adequate transportation facilities from the city to the exposition grounds are necessary to the success of the exposition. The Consolidated has gone to the expense of making unusual preparations to for the traffic during the exposition. ompany has been at a great expense and I helieve will give us a service

"People living in the southern part of the city or at West End may get car and ride without change of ca the exposition grounds for 5 cents. only thing that could possibly be comp ed about is the charge of 10 cents from Broad and Marietta streets to the grounda I believe this extra charge is just. I beleve that in view of the great expe to which this company has been put arranging their terminal at the grounds putting on new cars, laying new tracks and doing many other things to accommodaet exposition travel this increased charge

My interest is with the exposition. I want to see our exposition flourish. I believe that the Consolidated's complete facilities hat the Consolidated's complete facilities will ald our show. I believe this fight which is being made on the Consolidat doing the exposition infinite harm away from this city. I say to Mr. Cabanisa, who is here, that I believe it is hurting us and furnishing our enemies with the material they want."

Mr. Smith said that the extra charge of 5 cents was for the terminals at the grounds. He said that a passenger who got on at Broad and Marietta streets and got off at Wilson avenue would be charged only 5 cents. Mr. Cabaniss wanted to know if the passengers got off outside the terminals of the Consolidated would he be charged 10 cents. Mr. Smith replied by saying: "Yes, and justly so." Mr. Cabaniss and Mr. Smith had a little wordy tilt in which Mr. Cabaniss said that Mr. Smith had admitted that the increase of fare was a gouge. Mr. Smith increase of fare was a gouge. Mr. Smith said he had not admitted that it was a gouge. Mr. Smith thought it was a fight between Mr. Cabaniss's colidated. Mr. Cabaniss thought it was the fight of the people.

Mr. Smith's motion to appoint a committee of three to investigate the matter of over-charge was adopted as a substitute for Mr. Hemphill's motion. Mr. Amorous thought that Mr. Cabaniss should be a member of the committee. "No, sir," said Mr. Cabaniss, "I will not serve. My mind is made up. Mr. Smith.

with his pre-conceived notions in favor of the Consolidated should not serve either. His mind is made up. He is not a fit juror any more than I am." Mr. Smith said the chairman would exercise his judgment in the selection of the committee; that he had no pre-conceived ideas which would not yield to convincing ith said the chairman would ex-argument.

Chairman English named the committee as follows: Alex W. Smith, Frank P. Riet and James R. Wylie. and James R. Wylle.

Mr. Cabaniss thought that Mr. Smith, having an opinion in the case, was not competent as a juror. A few minutes later Mr. Smith arose to a question of personal privilege.

"Inasmuch as my judgment has been impugned by Mr. Cabanisa," said he, "and it has been stated by him that I am not a competent juror, I resign my post on the committee.

A motion was made by Captain Grant that the resignation be not accepted, and t was carried.

President Collier moved that pending the Investigation the fight being made on the Consolidated cease. Mr. Cabaniss said this would be done without motion or request.

DISCUSS THE FARE.

Special Meeting of the T. P. A. To Consider the Consolidated. Mr. J. E. Maddox called a special meeting of the local post of the Travelers' Protective Association last night at the request of a number of the members. The object of the meeting was to col

sider the action of the Corsolidated Street Railway Company in charging 10 cents fare to the exposition grounds. Mr. Eugene Christian made an argument condemning the street railway, giv-ing the opinion of a number of members of the Travelers' Protective Association who live out of the city and who are contempiating visiting the exposition.

President Maddox argued that it was not political policy for the local post of the Travelers' Protective Association to condemn or to approve of the acts of street and that she could but indignantly deny them as being false and untrue. Ray Boards with Mrs. Owens. In pargraph 5 of the bill of Mrs. Cason it is charged that Mr. Ray lives at the home of Mrs. Owens and that he has been in the habit of taking her in his buggy on frequent occasions and that much unfavor-able comment has been occasioned by their conduct. In her answer to this charge, Mrs. Owens says that Mr. Ray is a baarder at her house and has been for some time. He is the only boarder and her sons live with her. She emphasizes the fact that Mr. Ray is a friend of the family, but denies that she has surrendered any of her preperty to him. On the contrary, she states that she has retained all the estate that was left her and that the money is now support of her statement, a long list of figures appear on the paper in which she gives an itemized account as to the direction that has been given the funds. She has invested the money in city property and a great deal of it has been reid out to satisfy creditors. In her statement $3,000 appears as the price of a monument that was placed on her husband's grave. A bill of $484 was paid for physician's ser-

A Sweeping Denial of the Charges. Mrs. Owens claims that she has been made the object of the wrath of her son-in-law, Mr. Cason. She states that he was not a proper person for her daughters to marry, and that he was time and again forbidden the house. She says she never liked him, and that he is now seeking his revenge. When he was visiting her daughter he was old that he could not come again, and in a short while her daughter ran away with nim and married Cason without her pernission, and that now he is persecuting her by causing her daughter to file the dam-aging statement as to her character and eral deportment.

Mrs. Owens states that her daughter is under the influence of her husband, and that she does not believe her daughter is at the bottom of the filing of the bill. In con-clusion Mrs. Owens makes a sweeping de-nial of all charges and claims that Mr. Cason is persecuting her, and that her daughter has been influenced to take this step and has been prejudiced against her own mother. She asks that the court refuse to appoint a receiver for the estate and desires to have the management and contro the money and realty that was left her by her husband.

Judge Lumpkin's Ruling. After the reading of the answer of Mrs Owens to the bill that was filed by J. W. Cason, Judge Lumpkin asked if all rights of all interested in the case would not be subserved if he were to order that Mrs. Ow-ens must not interfere with the property in any way, either by selling, transferring of encumbering the same, and that she not be permitted to withdraw from the Neal Loan and Banking Company any of the funds of the estate now on deposit?

Judge Latham stated that this would be satisfactory to him, provided Mrs. Owens would be allowed to check out $12 per month with which to defray the expenses of her youngest child, who is now in school. Mr. Meyers, for the plaintiff, consented to this arrangement, and the bank was instructed to cash a check for the amount of $12 each month. An order to this effect was drawn and thus matters will stand unt the hearing that was set for September 7th.

Some Sensational Affidavits. On both sides some very sensational affidavits have been secured, and when the hearing occurs next month it is very prob-able that some spicy developments in the able that some spicy developments in the case will be shown. Though the papers have not been filed, it is known that affi dayits have been secured to the effect that morphine was used both internally and hyperdermically on the person of Judge Owens, and that he was under the influence of the drug when ne signed the will and testament that deprived his minor children of the prop-The affidavit will say that morphine was administered by Bailiff Ray, and that Judge Owen was almost con-tinually under this influence, and that he was in no condition to know what he was doing when the will was presented

He asked that the papers, the deeds that had been given or received, the canceled checks and the bank deposit slips be tendered to the court, and that the defendant be required to show how much money was on hand and what disposition had been made of the estate since she had been in control.

He also said that He money was under the influence of the drug.

It will be sworn in an affidavit that the policies of the insurance company read that the money was to be paid to the children and wife, and that these policies were so changed after the illness of Judge Owens as to make them read that Mrs. Owens was the only beneficiary. It will also be sworn that Mrs. Owens has been also be sworn that Mrs. Owens has been in the company of Mr. Ray for quite a long time, even dating from the day of the funeral.

Refutes the Chages. Bailiff Ray was seen yesterday after-noon, and when asked about the charges that had been preferred against him, said that every statement charging him with mproper conduct was a tissue of falsehoods, and that they contained not one word of truth.

"I have been a friend of Mrs. Owens's owens and the defendant, but it was not true when she stated that her father left more than $10,000 in cash at the time of his death. The interest of Judge Owens in the homestead of his mother is still as he left it, Judge Owens's father has a life estate in the homestead and is still living. It stated that the realty that was left at the time of his death did not amount to more than $200, and that when he died he had no cash money on hand.

In. Owens stated that she had supported her family since her husband's death and had spent much money for the comfort of the members of the family. Judge Owens died on March 17, 1892, and the mother stated that her daughter, who had caused the filing of the bill against her, had lived in the home from her father's death until 1894, when she married J. W. Cason. She daimed that her husband was very poor at the time of his death and that she had been compelled to pay off many debts that were outstanding against the estate, and hat for this purpose she had used a large immount of the money that she had received from the insurance policies that had been paid her. The amount received on account of the policies was $10,075, and the tum of $75 was allowed for buriel expenses.

To Set Aside the Probate. A motion has been filed before Ordinary Calhoun asking that the will of Judge Owens be set aside. The motion will be heard on next Mon-day.

Very Little Accomplished at the Masting Yesterday-Major Stahlman Holds Over Until October 1st.

Notwithstanding the fact that the purpose of the meeting of the Southern Freight Association at the Hotel Waldorf, in New York yesterday, was supposed to be for the selection of a successor to Commissioner E. B. Stahlman, no action was taken in the matter and the subject received no official notice whatever in the deliberations of the meeting. It seemed from the discussion that the new organization could not be successfully formed without the co-operation of some lines that had not yet signified their intention of joining the association. The story from New York is as follows:

"New York, August 27,-(Special.)-Mr. R. G. Brwin, of New York, vice president of the Plant system, presided, at the meeting today and the following were present. "R. G. Erwin, vice president and general counsel of the Plant system; George C.

relative to the meeting but an official in attendance says that a large-sized sensation was sprung when the committee ap-pointed at the meeting on August 20th to invite all desirable transportation lines to ecome members of the association reported that it had not been able to secure any additional members. A number of important lines have not yet signed the agreement of the Southern States Freight Asso-ciation. It is considered as absolutely rec-essary that the membership if the Clyde Steamship Company, the South Carolina and Georgia Railway Company, Georgia railroad, Western and Atlantic railroad Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis and Louisville and Nashville railway be se-cured. The meeting consequently ourned until 2 o'clock tomorrow in order that the chairman might secure by wire the concurrence of all absent members in continuing the present association until

MR. HAINES'S CAREER.

Sketch of the Gentleman Who Will Succeed Commissioner Stahlman. Henry Stevens Haines, whose name has been prominently mentioned as the proba-ble successor of Major Stahlman, and whom it is said is slated for the vacancy, is one of the best known railroad men of the last half century. He was born at Nantucket, Mass., November 21, 1836. He first entered the railroad business in 1853 and has served in nearly every capac-ity of the engineer department of a railroad from a rodman to an engineer. From 1853 until 1860 he served in several capaci-ties with the Wilmington and Manchester road, was an apprentice in the machine phops and ater be locomotive engineer with the Northeastern railroad, of South Carolina; assistant engineer of construction of the Charleston and Savannah rall-road, and from 1860 to 1866 superintendent and chief engineer of the same road. From 1866 to 1880 he was the general superin-tendent of the Atlantic and Gulf railroad, and from 1880 until the present time he has occupied the offices of general manager and vice president of the Savannah, Florida and Western railway, and general manager and vice president of the Charleston and Savannah railway. For several years his office and his home were in Savannah. He is thoroughly in touch with the best interests of the railroads of the south, and those who are in favor of his appointment say that no better selection could be made to fill the vacancy caused by the unfortunate resignation of Major Stahlman. Is the human nerve. This is a state of health. Let it become overstrained or weakened, and the sensitiveness is increased tenfold. What we want for an alderman is an honest, sensible, patriotic and liberal minded citizen; and if we get such a man we can trust him to select men to serve the city, and to deal with the many questions of local government which so vitally affect us. To accomplish good results, we must provide that way to select candidates which will give our people a full, free.

NO OFFICERS ELECTED YESTERDAY | THE SEA WILL BE CALM UNTIL THEN

Activity Among the Local Politicians Temporarily Declared Off-A Harmonious Meeting of the Committee.

There will not be a primary for member of the general council until after October 23d next.

All agitation of local politics has been de ferred until after that time, and the opening days of the exposition will not be disturbed by political excitement. The question of fixing the date for the primary and the selection of candidates goes over until the date mentioned.

That was settled by the city executive committee last night in the session held in the council chamber in obedience to the call issued by Captain W. D. Ellis, chair-

The action of the committee was secured pleasantly and harmoniously and the meeting was one of the pleasantest the commitee has had in many years. There was no friction or factional fight of any kind during the meeting, and outside of the time onsumed in reading the roll call, the address of the chairman, the motion by Mr. Humphreys, of the third ward; the reading of the resolution by Captain Brotherton, of the first ward, less than three-quarters of an hour were consumed in the entire necting.

Only five persons were out of their seats during the session-the chairman during his address, Mr. Humphreys while making a wotion, Mr. Leefler while seconding that motion, Mr. Brotherton, who presented a resolution, and Mr. Cabaniss, who called for the previous question. It was a model meeting from beginning to end and the result shows that no faction had been at work in Atlanta when the early call for the meeting of the executive committee was made. Those present found too, that there were no factions or divisions in the executive committee, so uniform and similar was the action of the members.

The members of the committee took seats nside the horseshoe bend where the members of the council sit, while the chairs outside of that section were all occupied by citizens interested in the meeting. It was half past 8 o'clock when Captain Ellis called the meeting to order and asked for call of the roll of the members. The call was made and showed the following members present:

First Ward-O. Reneau, W. H. Brother-ton, D. W. Green and C. I. Branan. Second Ward-George Hillyer, Joe F. Second Ward—George Hillyer, Joe F. Gatins and W. R. Brown.
Third Ward—J. W. Humphreys, G. S. Cassin and Zack Smith.
Fourth Ward—H. B. Wey and Mike Mehan, W. S. Thomson, H. C. Thompson.
Fifth Ward—S. C. Glass, C. G. Loeffer, J. H. Elisworth and L. A. Hawes.
Sixth Ward—J. K. Ohl, F. P. Rice, J. M. Slaton and H. H. Cabaniss.

in the roll call Mr. T. B. Neal, of the second ward; Mr. J. B. Warren, of the third; Mr. T. W. Latham, of the fourth; Mr. W. M. Terry, of the fourth, and Mr. J. K. Ohl, of the sixth, were found absent. Mr. Cabaniss moved that Mr. E. P. Black be substituted for Mr. Ohl, and objection was raised because at the last meeting of the executive committee a resolution was adopted declaring that in the event of the absence of a member the place should be filled by an alternate. But just as the chairman was making a ruling that way

Mr. Ohl came in.

Mr. Ellis then declared that he desired to make a few remarks before he declared the meeting ready for business. Then he said: "Gentlemen of the Executive Committee By virtue of the power vested in me I have called you together for the purpose of conference, and if upon deliberation you deem it for the best interest of the city, to provide for a nomination of suitable candidates to fill the offices of two aldermen and seven councilmen. In this connection I desire to say that this meeting has been called on my own responsibility, without even a sug-gestion from any man who is a candidate, or, so far as I know, from any set of men who favor any particular men or measures. I have rarticularly avoided any contact with any such. I sesire to call your attention to the fact that this committee represents no political party or particular class or set of people. It is a committee selected to represent the good people of Atlanta, and what it may do is worth. Atlanta, and what it may do is worth, nothing more than a suggestion to our fellow citizens. We have no party lash to crack over the heads of the people, and if we give them good cause to repudiate what we suggest and what we do they ought and will refuse to be bound by it. We should, therefore, be cautious and careful to present only such recommendations as are conservative, wise, prudent and will are conservative, wise, prudent and will meet the approbation of the best element of our people.

"It is rumored that there are certain cliques and rings which have banded to-gether to take advantage of what we may do, to selze upon the offices we are con-sidering and to fill them with men ready to sacrifice the general good in order to carry out factional schemes and partisan purposes. I cannot believe there is any truth in these ugly rumors, but as a citizen and as the head of this committee I denounce any such attempts, if they exist, and I want to say for myself that I cannot be used for any such autempts. not be used for any such purpose. I can-not conceive of a more dastardly outrage than for a set of political tricksters to unthan for a set of political tricksters to undertake to capture these offices for unpatriotic purposes while the great body of our people are giving their time and attention to making a success of the great exposition so soon to open, and which is now attracting the attention of the world to Atlanta. This has grown to be a great city. It is made up of all sorts of people, who follow all sorts of occupations. It is not proper that the lawyers should rule it, that mechanics should rule it, that merchants should rule it, that merchants should rule it, that natives should rule it, or that foreign born citizens should rule; nor it is well that the whisky element or the prohibition element should absolutely control it. All good men of all professions, callings and occupations, whatever their nationality or religious views may be, ought to have a voice in its government, and full opportunity to freely express it at the ballot box. I have a supreme contempt for any class of people who arrogate to themselves all the wisdom of our city, and I distrust the motives of any particular class who declare they intend to condertake to capture these offices for unpa and I distrust the motives of any particu-lar class who declare they intend to con-trol it. A man ought not to be eleced to office because he is a mechanic, a mer-chant, a banker, a lawyer, or because he chant, a banker, a lawyer, or because he follows any particular trade. He ought not to be defeated for office because he follows any of these occupations. He ought not to be elected because he is a Protestant, a Catholic, or a Jew; and that he is either is no reason to defeat him. What we want for an alderman is an honest, sensible, patriotic and liberal minded citizen; and if we get such a man we can trust him to select men to serve fair and open chance to express their choice at the ballot box. Nothing short of that will do. No little back-room programme; no little cut-and-dried scheme; no little packed convention; no little ward combination will come up to the measure of our duty. I have the atmost faith in the wisdom and pairiotism of this committee. I want to put myself on record. I have expressed my convictions, and I intend to act accordingly. I feel assured that the committee is composed of gentlemen who desire to do right, and I trust that we will hand back our trust to the people with

The resolution was handed over, but before it could be read Mr. Humphreys

Mr. Humphreys finally gave consent for the reading of the resolution for information. The resolution was:

THE NEGRO DIED.

John Teller, Who Was Hit by a Train Monday Night, Died at the Hospital. John Teller, colored, of 215 Mangum street, the negro who was hit by a train in the Central railroad yards Monday night, died from his injuries at that institution yesterday morning.

The body of the negro was removed to David Howard's undertaking establishment during the day, where it will remain until its disposition is ordered by Coroner Paden today. An inquest over the body of the negro will be held this morning. It is not known exactly how Teller came to his death, but it is said that he jumped off an execursion train which was leaving the city and was struck by an incoming train near the Peters street railroad crossing. The negro was injured internally.

GAMBLING GANG ARRESTED. Officers Raid a Peters Street House and Capture Seven Gamesters. Officers Hollingsworth and Coogler raided a house on Peters street at the corner of Beermann last night and captured a gang of gamblers. In the crowd there were five negro men, a negro woman and a white man. The gang was sent to police head-quarters and locked up. A lot of the effects of the game were found by the officers, including cards and so forth.

-At the Young Men's Christian Association tomorrow afternoon the alumni of Emory college will hold a reunion and Dr. Warren A. Candler will be present and address the meeting. Every old student i expected to attend the meeting tomorrow

MANY KINDS OF RATES

The Rate Committee Held an Important Meeting Yesterday.

ANTE-EXPOSITION RATES DISCUSSED

Reduced Fares Asked for Hotel Help To Be Brought Here Before the Exposition Opens.

The Southern Passenger Association wer into its regular session in the committee room of the Aragon yesterday morning with an unusually large attendance from all the roads in its membership.

The purpose for calling this meeting of the association was to discuss several items of much importance relative to the rates governing certain fares to the expo sition from outside points.

The main question under consideration and which was agreed upon was the rate for hotel help coming to Atlanta prior to the opening of the Cotton States and International exposition. A vast amount of this class of travel is expected within the coming three weeks.

A proposition was offered but defeated for reduced rates for special state days instead of the two days a week agreement already decided upon prior to the meeting. Another proposition to offer reduced rates to military bodies coming in large numbers to the exposition was also de feated for the reason that the majority of those present thought that the rates al-ready fixed were as low as they could be set and be just to all parties concerned. The association adjourned without com-ing to any agreement on the questions agitated other than to defeat them and it is quite unlikely from the opinion rangement of the rates as fixed by the agreement published in The Constitution at the time the schedule was agreed upon.

On account of the excessively low rates offered by all the roads of the association it would seem to them that it would be rectifully to extend a special privilege partially to extend a special privilege to one organization and ignore others as much entitled.

Stocks Were Strong with an Advancing Tendency, Closing Dull-Wheat Closed Lower-Receipts Increasing.

New York, August 27 .- Speculation at the stock exchange broadened considerably today, the sales of stocks footing up 305,565 shares, while the dealings in railway and miscellaneous bonds aggregated the enor-mous total of $4,033,000. The market in all departments was characterized by strength. departments was characterized by strength. The new government 4s, which have felt the influence of foreign liquidations, were sold up to 123%, none offered below 123%. In the stock market proper the Grangers were easily the leaders. There was a stronger demand from start to inlish, and on large buying St. Paul rose 1% to 76%: on large buying St. Paul rose 1% to 76%; Northwest % to 166%; Burlington 1 to 92; Rock Island 1% to 84%; Omaha ½ to 44%, and Illinois Central 3 to 104-all the best prices for a long time past. London was in the market for these stocks, as well as for Louisville and Nashville, Wabash and Northern Pacific preferred, Erie, Southern railway and Denver and Rio Grande, and it is estimated that the foreign purchases today were easily 25,000 shares, Local optoday were easily 25,000 shares. Local operators, who have not been in sympathy with the upward movement and who have been putting out short lines from time to time, were also buyers, and this contributed to the strength and harmony. Erie and bankrupt properties generally were quite prominent in the trading. Erie common sold up 1½ to 10½, while the preferred jumped 4½ to 27. The Morgan plan for the reorganization was received with great the reorganization was received with great both here and abroad, and some operators here were of the opinion that the bulk of the foreign buying today and yes-terday was due in a great measure to the promulgation of the scheme. Northern Pacific preferred bounded up 3 to 20; Atchison 1½ to 20; Atchison preferred 1½ to 35½, and Union Pacific 1 to 14½; Louisville and Nashville, Western Union, Missouri Pacific, New York Central, Pacific Mail, Baltimore and Ohio, Big Four, General Electric and Denver and Rio Grande improved anywhere from 1 to 2% per cent, and were in demand at the high range. In the Industrials cover-ing of shorts in Sugar put that stock up from 107% to 110%. Tobacco rose 1% to 98%, receded to 96 and closed at 97, Speculation closed strong. Early Morning Gossip.

Dow-Jones News Co., by private wire to J. C. Knox, manager: The London market tive yesterday than at any time for three months. 'The account of the settlement which began yesterday with the carrying over stock dissolved only a small long in-commission houses report more out-of town business than for a long time. London bought stocks moderately. The buy-ing would have been larger if the opening prices had not been so high.

Closing Stock Review.

New York, August 27 .- New York News Bureau by private wire to J. C. Knox, manager: The stock market was strong to-day, with more activity enjoyed than in my weeks. The impetus of prices was given by the favorable reception of the Erie reorganization abroad, which caused a liberal buying for European account, and absence of expected exports of gold. Eric stocks close 1½ per cent for common and nearly 5 for the preferred, and in sympathy Northern Pacific, Atchison and Un-Pacific advanced 1@3 per cent.

The Grangers made a material improve-ment under the leadership of St. Paul, and ment under the leadership of St. Paul, and London buying helped to carry Denver and Rio Grande up 1½@3 per cent and Louisville and Nashville over 1 per cent. Flint and Pere Marquette and other specialties rose 1 per cent and over and the general railway list made good gains. Among the Industrials Sugar railied on shorts covering over 2 per cent, while American Tobacco, although unsettled, was higher. Chicago Gas was irregular under reorganizations, but General Electric rose per cent. On failure of the United States ather Company to declare the expected div, lend the preferred stock broke nearly per cent, although it rallied substantially. The market closed dull and with some reactions, 'tue to profit taking. actions, due to profit taking.

In the Atlantic coast states, from North Carolina to Georgia in places where they were not needed, and Texas reiterated its complaints of great injury from boil worms and sharp shooters. At isolated points in Georgia and Alabama the crop is said to have improved somewhat, but it is expected that the government report tomorrow will be buillish, as has been foreshadowed in our advices. Conservabut it is expected that the government report tomorrow will be bullish, as has been foreshadowed in our advices. Conservative estimates of the crop in Texas place it at least 30 per cent below last year, and it will be only 50 per cent of last year's in many sections. The crop movement continues extraordinarily light, and this naturally has an effect on the course of prices, although it is very early in the season. On the rapid advance today there was a good deal of buying, which way not of the best, and may be spilled at the first indication of a reaction. Total receipts at the ports today were 731, against 4.331 the same time last year, this being as 6 to 1, and about the same ratio as yesterday compared with the same day last year. The close was steady at 10 points net advance—7.9607.97 for January. On the floor of the cotton exchange was exhibited a cotton plant being from Mexia, Tex. A letter accompanied it, saying that if every boll in Texas showed as well, the crop of that state would be 5,000,000 bales. This might be consolation for bears: there was none for them in the quotations. Our correspondents at Fort Worth, Tex., bought the first new bale received there on Saturday, the 24th. The first new bale there last year was received August 25th. last year was received August 26th. Thefall wing to the range of cotton fatares in New Riordan & Co.'s Cotton Letter. New York, August 21.—(Special.)—A substantial advance was scored in cotton today. Liverpool again came to the rescue of short-seellers this morning, the early cables reporting unchanged prices in that market. The retural of Liverpool to follow market. The refusal of Liverpool to follow the advance and the execution of selling orders caused a lower opening here, sales of October being made at 7.63. For a while after the opening the market hesitated, but it soon became apparent that there were few selling orders to meet the eager demand and prices steadily advanced with few selling orders to meet the eager demand and prices steadily advanced until October touched 7.81. The bulls then sold liberally, and the market reacted four points, but closed steady with 7.78 bid for October. The bearish sentiment so pronounced last night has entirely evaporated. The very small receipts and the frar of the weekly government crop report have thoroughly frightened the bears, and together with the good trade reports from everywhere have given confidence to those friendly to cotton, but the advance has been rapid and while we believe prices will sooner or later be much higher, we should not be surprised to see a sharp reaction at any moment.

New Yorli August 27.—Liverpool soot market opened today in buyers' ravor. Sales 8,000 tales, midling 4 3-320; last year 3 13-10d. Futures quoted quiet with sellers at 2-54d advance and closed at 2½ points advance. Manchester yarns were quiet and lirni; cloth quiet. Our market opened at 2 to 5 points decline. October selling on the call at cloth quiet. Our market opened at 2 to 5 points decline, October selling on the call at 7.65 and at 7.62. After a luil in the trading the market advanced to 7.75 for October. At 1 o'clock 7.73 is bid, The opening response of Liverpool to our advance of last evening was decidedly disappointing to the tade, which had anticipated a further improvement in the European markets. Tois disappointment caused the market to cres, e points lower than it closed, but this certain was quickly recovered when the large markets advanced upon more cheerismarkets advanced to any buying dematical to every one that the markets quickly responded to any buying dematical through private sources show an improvement in the prospects during the passweek, but the trade expects the government will make an unfavorable report tomorror. welk, but the trade expects the gaverage will make an unfavorable report tonorrow. There exists no disposition to anticipate any decline on these improving advices. On the contrary, the trade is looking for a continuance of the speculative demand, which will bring January above 8c. The movement of the crop continues to be light, especially in Texas, where the drought this year does not seem to have the usual effect of increasing the orly inovement. The market has been wild and excited all the afternoon, closing steady at the highest prices of the day and year. This excitement leaves the situation unchanged, and original longs keep selling out their holdings on constantly advancing markets. Our market has advanced 12 points since the close of Liverpool, and the foreign markets are expected to be active at an advance of 2 to 3-64d tomorrow. Spot sales were 46for consumption, and 200 delivered on contract—64 total with the tone steady at %c advance; middling 7 15-16c; last year 6%c. The Sun's Cotton Review.

New York, August 27.—Cotton declined 4 to 5 points, but recovered this and advanced 12 to 14 points, then reacted slightly and closed steady with prices 10 to 12 points higher than at the close of yesterday. The sales were 281,000 bales, making 624,800 bales in three business days. Liverpool declined 1 point, but recovered this and advanced 2 to 2½ points, closing firm; spot sales there were 10,000 bales, and though prices were weak, they were without quotable change. In Manchester yarns were quiet, but firm; cloths quiet. New Orleans declined 2 points, but recovered this and advanced 17 to 19 points and then lost 2 to 3 points of the rise. Port receipts 121, against 351 this day last week and 431 last year; Houston received 1,157, against 783 this day last week and 4,499 hast year. Spot cotton was 1,50 higher at New York, St. Louis, Baltimore and Norfolk. Here 413 bales for spinning were sold on the basis of 7 15-16c for mid-dling uplands.

higher at New York, St. Louis, Baltimore and Norfolk. Here 413 bales for spinning were sold on the basis of 715-16c for middling uplands.

Today's Fratures—It was a little disappointing to the bulls this morning to find Liverpool slightly lower for futures and weak for spot cotton, and at first prices here declined, not only on the dispiriting news, but also because of favorable weather. In most parts of the south and local, southern and European selling. Some heavy rains were reported in South Carolina, but as a rule the weather in the Atlantic states was clear. Both Liverpool and the continent sold here to some extent. Many felt that a reaction was due. It required very little encouragement to send prices upward sharply. There was manifestly more disposition to buy than to sell, and when Liverpool suddenly turned and ran upward both New York and New Orleans followed, and even "better destruction." The weather in Texas was still dry. The signal service predicts continued dry weather in that state. It is feared that the weekly government report tomorrow may be bullish, and the receipts at the ports continued small, a fact which is creating some uneasiness in Liverpool. The receipts are not likely to much exceed 5,000 bales, whereas for the corresponding week last year they were 4.7% bales. The south was buying this afternoon, and so leading local interests bought freely for the long account. The spot market were higher and middling uplands have now practically reached 8c, the figure predicted by some of the bulls last spring, and which seemed to many to be the last degree absurd. "Truth is stranger than fiction."

Wheat Bulls Got Their Usual Shaking Up Yesterday.

Chicago, August 27 .- The bulls got another shaking up in wheat today, the mar-ket opening 1/4 to 1/4c lower and closing at %@%c under yesterday. Trading was light and princ pally local, with fluctuations covering but %c range. The weakness early was caused by the very large receipts in the northwest and continued liquidation by the longs. Shipments of wheat to all importing countries for last week were 1,302,000 bushels, against estimated require-ments per week of 6,500,000 bushels. Bradstreet's report of the world's visible supply of wheat shows an increase of 562,000 ushels, without the Pacific coast. of the Rockies decrease 1,346,000 bushels and affoat for Europe increased 926,000 bushels. The market rallied on the strength in corn, but weakened on good realizing and the bearish world's supply. It closed dull at about inside prices. Corn-There was an easier feeling in corn early on the large receipts and in sympathy with the depressed tone prevailing in wheat. The market became strong on predictions of frost for tonight, good buying by New York shorts, large export clear-ances and the small estimated receipts for tomorrow, but weakened on liberal realizing at the advance by local longs. September corn opened at 35%c, sold between 36%c and 35%c, closing at 35%@35%c—%@%c lower than yesterday. Cash corn was firm and BISHOP, ANDREWS & HILL

Lamson Bros. & Co.'s Grain Letter.

Chicago. A just 27.—The market today has been quie, and devoid of any special feature. A f. ther decline has taken place, September silling down to 60% and December to 62%, catald by the larg: receipts at Minneapolia and Duloth, which were 1,063, some of the large shorts having 'aken advantage of the appression to cover, which steadled prices and caused a slight reaction. The market, however, did not display strength, and its action is just of the right character to discourage holders and inspire confidence among scalpers on the short side. We notice, however, a tendency to take small profits from such sales around present prices, and think on a basis of 60c, for September there will be some buying of December for investment. Local receipts show an increase, caused mostly by increased arrivals of spring wheat. Clearances were only fairly lafge at 206,553 bushels, all told. Cables quoted Antwerp 12½ centimes and Paris 20 centimes lower; Berlin % to 1 mark higher.

Corn opened weak and declined in sympathy with wheat and on crop prospects, but later became firm and advanced on liberal clearances at the seaboard, amounting to 34,658 bushels: also on prospects of a marked failing off in receipts, only 270 cars being estimated for tomorrow. This latter, however, may be due to recent rains. Provisions were firm and higher on support by the packers and continued buying by brokers, said to be for Cudaby, who is securing large profits on previous sales. reproducing. New Yorkers ought to be proud of "We New Yorkers ought to be proud of our Atlanta folks," writes this brilliant young editor who has done such good work for the exposition movement. "They display a patriotism, a civic pride and an energy that are simply invincible. Nothing seems to daunt or discourage them. In the past ten years they have been compelled to withstand the fierce competition of many neighboring cities of the south, and the paltry jealousy of others, so that the past ten had to fight for every inch ing to her bedside, could reach her. With everything to live for—devoted parents, and the paltry jealousy of others, so that at times they had to fight for every inch of progress they made; but the harder they fought, the faster they have gone ahead, so that today the city stands not only at the head of all the southern communities, but stands alone as the one great comme cal city of the south. If New York had one-half of the go-ahead qualities of this wonderful municipality it would be larger and greater than London at the present and greater than London at the present time. In this imagnificent struggle the women have taken part in more ways than one. They have nerved their husbands and fathers to do their best work. They, have gone out of their way to receive and entertain until they have made their homes a synonym for royal hospitality. They have put their unemployed sisters to work in literature, music, the fine arts, pedagogics are rature, must, the line are, pedagoars and in this way developed a spirit of self-reliance and independence which can never be overrated. They have welcomed every idea which would redound to their credit or prosperity, and have made themselves a factor in the civic success almost as large as the men themselves."

Three charming southern women, two of

Three charming southern women, two of them Atlantians and the other very well known here, are mentioned in the same column in this way:

"Mrs. Beverly W. Wrenn is a famous southern beauty, and is a representative of the committee on decorative, applied and technical art. This committee has allowed the permittee than allowed the permittee that the permittee than allowed the permittee than allowed the permittee than allowed the permittee that th ready been very successful, and has brought together a collection of esthetic objects which for beauty and characteristic value cannot be overestimated. There are one er two branches of decorative art in which the committee desires a larger ex-position, and Mrs. Wrenn will endeavor to supply this want during her stay in New York. Mrs. Judge Tompkins is a fine type of the beautiful young southern matron. Her mission is the collection of fine miniatures. She has already accumulated several hundred representing the great painters of the old world and the new and also the various schools of art which have been developed in that field of painting. Mrs. Andrew Simoads, a strikingly interesting person, is completing the South Carolina exhibit, and hopes to conclude her labors in a few days. She is one of the most brilliant and attractive women of the south."

liant and attractive women of the south." Some Suggestions of the Season.

Crepons have only begun their career, it would seem, but the latest novelty is very silky, the ground work recalling the Gis-monda silk, while the surface is like corrugated iron; but it is solid as far as the indentations are concerned; the back of the material is plain. It gives richness and firmness, and it is not expensive, but superior in its character to the thin fabric worn n suinmer. Pressed maidenhair fern is much used on hats and bonnets. Of course, it is natural looking, for it is the actual leaf; and it is so admirably pressed that it is likely to last for some time. There is a new way of arranging wings at either side of the sailor hats. They stand up, surrounded by kilt-plaited chiffon, growing out of them as it were. Honeysuckle is a favorite flower for the present, and a good deal of the durable lace is used in black and spangled

The forthcoming fashions in millinery show that a great deal of chenile will be worn, treated as a sort of embroidery, the song stitches laid side by side so that they form a solid velvet-like surface. A Paris bonnet, or rather a foundation for a bonnet, is a good illustration of what the modes are to be. The foundation was a pointed colf covered with a leaf pattern n two tones of shot chenille with wired leaves at either side like Mercury's wings standing out as they do To the left and right of the god's helmet. It is evident that the Marie Antoinette dresses introduced recently are to be more frequently seen and will doubtless event-ually bring about important modifications of present styles. Gowns of thin material made with V fronts have been completed by Marie Antoinette fichus of fine swiss or organdie, trimmed with lace or lace-edged ruffles. Crossed low in front, with long ends, the effect is excellent, and the influence of such comparatively simple out-lines is noticeable in diminished sleeves made with two puffs in place of one and finished by a ruffle to match the fichu. Gowns of richer fabric open in front over contrasting petticeats, and corsage drapery is crossed over the bust and finished by the inevitable fichu with long ends.

> A Tribute of Love. To Mrs. W. J. Nourse.

"Yesterday I looked on one Who lay as if asleep in perfect peace. Her Mfe's work done, Eternity's great freedom her release called her dead,

And wept, refusing to be comforted." A life's work of only twenty-three short ears, and yet it was complete—as aughter, sister, wife, mother and friend— in all these relations of life her work was perfect and entire. Mrs. W. J. Nourse was only twenty-three years of age, born in San Francisco, Cal. As Halycon Lightner, she was the central figure in a large circle of loving friends. At a very early age she gave signs of being a remarkably bright and intellectual child, and when she graduated with the highest honors at the Irving college, she more than fulfilled the promise of her childhood, for she was conceded to be the brightest pupil

Like a bombshell the news fell upon the Southern Association yesterday that Evansville was about to give up the ghost, and at first there were none who cared to take any stock in the story.

But before the evening was over it was well known around the circuit that Evansville was playing the pauper act, through Beard, the manager, and that unless something was done to please the manager of the Indian team Beard and his men would not carry out the games they are scheduled to play in Nashville at the close of the

By the schedule made at the last meeting of the association in Montgomery and Mobile the Montgomery team was required to go to Evansville after finishing the series in Atlanta, and then home for a close with Mobile. It has been well known for some time past that the Evansville team was not drawing any big crowds at home, and Tip O'Neill, who is now in charge of the Montgomery team, has long had doubts about making the run from Atlanta to Evansville for the next three games. But last evening after the game with the Atlantas O'Neill bought a ticket for his team to Evansville, and was ready to leave on the train which pulled out at 8 o'clock last night.

But before the train went away the wires began working words about the condition of the Evansville team. The first message was from President Holt, of the Montgomery team, and it was addressed to Manager O'Neill. It informed O'Neill that the Evensville team was in a shaky condition, and advised him not to take his team to that city, but to bring it home. No one could understand what the message meant at first, as it was thought that Evansville would not fall down when the season was over except six games. It seems, however that during the day yesterday Manager Beard, of the Evansvilles, wired to President Nicklin, of the association, that un-less the association gave the Evansville but she was so interested it was impossible to restrain her.

For not long was she a "stranger in a strange land," for there was a magnetism about her that drew around her many friends, and most sincerely was she appreciated—her very soul looked at you through her bright eyes, and her cheery voice would lift you above the sorrows of earth. team $400 that that team would disband President Nicklin did not know whethe the Evansville team really needed the mon ey or whether it was a bluff Beard was putting up for $400. However, he thought it better to notify the Montgomery people, who would be the heaviest losers. As President Nicklin did that he advised the mans ger of the team in Atlanta to ask if Evans-ville would make the guarantee good before he left for that city. That telegram and the one from Mr. Holt reached O'Neill about the same time, and they came just triend, the lovely floral offerings that covened her casket attested the appreciation of friends, and when the gentle strains of music fell upon the ear there was not a dry eye among those present, who realized that, though "asleep in Jesus," it was a sleep from which there would be no awalting on this course. as he and his team were in the act of leaving the Markham house for the union depot. Naturally the two messages caused him to hesitate, and now the Montgomery team is in Atlanta awaiting developments.
But while Beard was carrying all of this in his mind and was rearrying all of this in his mind and was working it out with President Nicklin over the wires he was making a claim for a game from the Montcalmly sinks from sight and leaves its rosy hues long after the orb has disap-peared, so in the darkness of our sorrow gomery team because that team did not appear on the grounds.

That's more like Stallings than it is like loss will the rosy hues of this beautiful life permeate our own, and its radiance will ever linger in our hearts. Just what the result will be remains to be seen, but the indications are that it will have no effect on the race for the pennant Miss Isma Salm, of Columbus, O., is vis-in the Southern Association.

That Atlanta, Nashville, Mobile and New In the Southern Association.

That Atlanta, Nashville, Mobile and New Orleans will play until the end of the season there can be no doubt. Mobile is here now and it is cheaper for Whistler to play the games than it is for him to move his men on home. New Orleans is in Nashville and will play out the series there and will stop in Atlanta on their way home because it is cheaper than to go on through home. That will give Atlanta three games with both teams, to say nothing about the deferred games, while Nashville will have no more games unless the Evansville team will meet Stallings in that town.

But before going to Nashville for the three games the Evansville team will have to play three games with Montgomery, and to get those games Beard will have to assure the Montgomery team of its guarantee. Beard can't claim the games because the Montgomery team don't show up because President Nicklin has his telegrams showing that he is a pauper at the hands of the league and that he will quit unless given $400.

So while Atlanta is working for six given $400.

So while Atlanta is working for six games yet scheduled, to say nothing about the deferred games. Nashville will be lying idle after finishing with New Orleans. The Mobiles reached the city yesterday and watched the game from the grounds as the Atlantas and Montgomeries played it out.

as the Atlantas and Montgomeries played it out.

Manager Whistler came to Atlanta thinking that he would get a game here, but after he arrived found that Montgomery was scheduled for the games. Whistler thought it was a mistake and wired President Nicklin, who declared that Mobile was entitled to the day and not Montgomery. Not long after that, however, Umpire McFarland received a telegram from President Nicklin telling him that the day belonged to Montgomery and that it was an error in printing the schedule. He requested the umpire to show the telerequested the umpire to show the tele gram to Manager Whistler.

Augusta Wins.

Augusta, Ga., August 27.—(Special.)—The Charleston Young Men's Christian Asso-ciation baseball club came to Augusto to-day for the game that was prevented by rain ten days ago. They brought an excursion of Charleston fens with them and Au-gusta turned out enthusiastically for the game. There were fully 3,000 people at the game, which resulted in a victory for Augusta by a score of 5 to 2. The Augusta Rooters are making merry tonight, parading the asphalt with a base drum, flying colors and victorious college yells.

TAX RATE FIXED.

Comptroller Wright and Govenor Atkinson Fix Next Year's Rate. Comptroller Wright has fixed the new tax rate for the next year, and it has been approved by Governor Atkinson. The total tax will be 4.56 mills, an increase in the rate of last year brought on crease in the rate of last year brought on by the big slump in values. Last year the tax rate was 4.37 mills.

The general tax for the ensuing year has been placed at 2.30 mills; 1.50 mills will be levied for school purposes and .26 of a mill set aside for a sinking fund.

This rate is much higher than that of former years. The increase was forced by the general decrease in values throughout the state.

County Tax Receiver Stewart was seen in his office yesterday and when asked what he thought of the increase in rate said that he did not know just what would be the result of the raise on the tax-payers.

"I do not think," said Mr. Stewart, "that "I do not think," said Mr. Stewart, "that it will have the tendency of increasing the number of delinquents over former years. It is the highest rate that has ever been made, yet it must be remembered that the decrease in tax values is very much larger than heretofore. The increase in rate will just about make up for the decrease in returns.

"Fulton county now pays almost one-eighth of the taxes of the entire state. The increase in the rate is partially responsible for this statement, and then, too, the decrease in other counties brings up the sum total. There has as yet been no raise in the county rate, so far as I know. I cannot say whether this rate will be raised or not."

3 Whitehall St. HINTS FOR THE SICK.

An All-Important Question Answered.

THE BEST NONE TOO GOOD Chenp Doctors and Patent Medicines Kill More People Than the Most Successful Practitioners Cure.

The great question with sick folks is—what doctor to go to? It is, indeed, the vital and chief question. The true physician, with his science, his instruments and his remedies, is as a minister of humanity and kindness, while the false physician may be more dangerous to his patient than the disease he pretends to treat. But it would seem nowadays as though there is no calling in life where there is so much of sham and humbug, of smooth roguery and heartless imposition, as in that of medicine. None of the other learned professions is so disgraced with pretenders and imposters. But there is no reason why any one should become their dupes and victims any more than that they should become the dupes and withins of our more vulgar bunko steerers and three-card monte men. In matters of sickness, as in matters of business, we should be on our guard. We have physicians enough in Atlanta, known by long years of faithful and honorable service, to care for all the cases of sickness among us. If you are a sufferer from chronic disease we have Dr. Hathaway & Co., specialists, at 22½ South Broad street. In the treatment of catarrh, private, skin and nervous diseases, and all that class of chronic allments, no other medical firm in the world has had larger experience or achieved wider fame than Dr. Hathaway & Co. MYNATT ON FINANCE

In Able Address on Silver and Gold by a Prominent Atlantian.

SOME OF MR. SMITH'S POINTS REFUTED

Hardly Enough Money in the World To Pay Private and Public Debts in

Hon. P. L. Mynatt, of Atlanta, delivered notable address on Monday before the DeKalb County Bimetallic League which deserves more space in these columns than It is now possible to devote to it, but a running synopsis with some extracts cannot fail to be of interest to The Constitu-

Colonel Mynatt in the first part of his speech gave an interesting review of silver ney in all ages, from Biblical times down to the present day, showing that silver coin was as good as gold with the erchants and among the people in the ys of Abraham and for some 4,000 years ed the surreptitious demonetization silver by congress without the knowlraised is fixed by the judgment, but the price the property brings is reduced by the reduction in the amount of money since the debt was made. In the body politic there is a certain amount of money. It represents all the values of all the property of the civilized world. Now if it were possible to remove one-half of that money that would diminish values just one-half. I allude to this because it is gravely ng medium of the body politic, which is s life and strength, has been taken away, he whole community will languish except uch part or paris thereof as seize upon the alance remaining and appropriate it. If he contrary of this proposition had not been so elaborately presented by the secre-ury of the interior the bare statement the proposition would be its argument." of the proposition would be its argument."

The speaker said that an inflated currency was not wanted and the discovery and development of silver seemed to keep pace with man's necessities, in recent as well as in ancient times. This claim Colorated by citing the facts.

nel Mynatt supported by citing the facts of history. He said of the demonetization

That the money brokers, bondholders d large capitalists have made a conand large capitalists have made a con-spiracy to debase silver is quite susceptible of proof. The most intellectual men on earth are manipulators of money. Getting money is the most fascinating thing in which men engage. When a man starts on that line he brings to bear all the ener-gies of his mind and soul. Prior to 1870 men of this sort in the various money marts of the world conspired to demonetize silver. English capitalists were the moving spirits. It is everywhere conceded that s. It is everywhere conceded that and is the creditor nation. It holds onds of our government, our railroads, ries and other vast corporations. The s of the government are payable in the coupons are payable in coin. bonds and coupons of private corporations are generally payable in dollars. the interest of these holders of bonds et the most valuable money possible et the most valuable money possible.

to the extest of five dollars ($5). Then if you owe him you must pay him in gold in all cases where his contract calls for coin where the amount if over $5. Where his contract calls for dollars you may pay him in greenbacks or gold. Then it is quite apparent that it is the interest of these security holders to displace silver. This shows beyond a doubt the interest of all these money dealers in the various centers of trade. This is one fact. In the next place they all favor the demonetization of silver. Not one of this class of people in Europe or America but what favors the single gold standard. In New York city they publish a periodical called Sound Currency under the auspices of the Reform Club. Almost every money dealer to the country is against silver.

"In the third place they all commenced work about the same time in a very quiet and stealthy way. The work began in America and Germany about the same time. It is a question that never had been presented to the people before the passage of the act of 1873. Candidates for congress had never gone before the people with the issue. Such a proposition would have been like a clap of thunder in a clear sky. Even the distinguished and able Mr. Patterson says: 'If I had been there I should have voted againt it on the ground that this country by uniting with the Latin union might have prevented the decline of silver and arrested the movement which resulted in the bimetallic standard throughout the world.' Here Mr. Patterson seems to admit that it was not the over-production of silver that influenced congressmen to vote for its demonetization. But Mr. Patterson was not there, nor was any other man there that had gone before his constituents with the Juestion. It may do for Germany and other European powers, under a restricted and qualified suffrage, to concoct and execute schemes of that sort without consulting the people, but Americans call it despotism. That it was a conspiracy in the passage of the night-time or to a secluded place without notifying the owners of s $100 of that money. A. B. had a judgment against you for $100. After the passage of this act of 1878 you tendered that sliw in payment of the debt. You had never heard of this infamous demonetization. You knew that silver had always been money, the Bible told you so and the constitution said so. You had a ways heard of the hard money of the Jackson democracy and you recognized silver as a part of that money. Now, what do you taink of that act of congress, did it not steal your money? I have proven that it was a conspiracy to destroy about one-half of the medium of circulation, done in the interest of the creditor class of Europe and America. It was done that they might demand gold for the debts then due them and that in the future they might make corners in gold. How easy it would be for these multi-millsonaires and money dealers to corner all the gold circulating in money centers, as they did when they had Mr. C.eveland by the wrist."

In regard to Hon. Josiah Patterson's statement that 5 per cent of cheap money injected into the currency of the country would destroy conndence. he asks:

"Where is this connaence? Who has it, and now is it to be obtained? I suppose from the context that the longment of that conndence is in the oreast of the greatest bankers in the works, who are mentioned.

connidence as in the oreast of the greatest bankers in the world, who are mentioned by Mr. Patterson in the next paragraph. How had sliver offended these immense bankers? I suppose only by presuming to be money. Sliver had not driven away either gold or greenoacks. It was all there. As a proof Mr. Cleveland borrowed $50,000,000 and the greenbacks absorbed. there. As a proof Mr. Cleveiand borrowed $50,000,000 and the greenbacks absorbed it like a sponge. He oprowed another $50,000,000 with like resuit. Then it was that the greatest bankers of the world appeared on the scene and were called into consultation. There is no trouble about the gold. We will let you have $62,000,000 at 3 per cent gold or 4 per cent coin. Under the existing law the bonds could only be issued payable in coin. The difference in the interest made $16,500,000 for thirty years. These mighty men took the bonds at 4 per cent and immediately sold them, making many millions on the deal. Mr. Patterson makes this statement with a flourish of trumpets as if there was victory in it, except he says congress threw $16,500,000 in the gutter. This statement of Colonel Patterson's lockers. trumpets as if there was victory in it, except he says congress threw $16,500,000 in the gutter. This statement of Coionel Patterson's looks very much to me as if these mighty bankers and Mr. Cleveland had the people between the devil and the deep sea. It all looks like an effort to degrade silver. The money of the world is in the hands of a very few people—so few that in each country or nation they can easily organize and agree upon methods. easily organize and agree upon methods and plans. These immense bankers as I have shown above, were the men who con-spired to kill silver."

An Unjust Discrimination.

An Unjust Discrimination.

"In the first place the banks withheld their loans and thus crippled all sorts of industries and traffic. In the next place Mr. Cleveland is so fearful that a debt of the government might be paid in silver coin that he tries to force congress to change the law and allow him to issue gold bonds. To prove the first proposition, as soon as they had accomplished all they could at that session of congress toward choking silver to death without any change whatever in the law except Mr. Cleveland syet of the seignorage bill, the gold men proclaim good times and some industries do start up with an improvised flourish of trumpets. I thank God for this apparent prosperity. I feel sure, however, it is prosperity. I feel sure, however, it is manufactured for the occasion. We have the saine amount of sliver now in circulation that we had in 1893, and a little more. If sliver poisoned the channels of commerce in 1893 and drove away gold and greenbacks, why did it not continue to do so? It has been here ever since 1893 behaving just as it did before. It pays all daily and weekly wages and the sales of almost every merchant in this broad iand are made for sliver if they are cash sales. I would not attribute any but good motives to Mr. Ceveland, but I must confess that I cannot understand why he refuses and fails to pay silver on debts that call for coin. The secretary of the interior says: It (the government) says to the people, you can pay to the government anything you owe in silver dollars at their coinage value. The government stamps them and allows them to be put among the people as good. The government is ready to take them at the value which it fixed upon them when it coined them. On the other hand when the government owes money it has pursued the practice since 1873 of saying to those it owes that the silver dollar and the gold dollar have each received the stamp of the government declairing their value and the government declairing their value and the government and the silver dollar and the government inaintains them equally good it lets you have when it owes you whichever you prefer. This seems plausible, but will it bear the test of duty and authority on the part of the president? It is the congress that authorizes these obligations on the part of the government. It authority on the part of the president? It is the congress that authorizes these obligations on the part of the government. It has said that certain obligations are payable in coin. It has not said 'you must keep these many militons in the treasury all the time waiting to pay these coin debts in gold.' Would a guardian or trustee have a right to pay the debt of his ward or cestue que trust otherwise than according to the obligation? If the president does not want to discriminate against gold or silver, why does he not pay one-half of each? This would comply with the contract and not discriminate against gold or silver. Besides this is the right of the people whose money this is and who owe the debts. If Mr. Cleveland had pursued this policy he would not only have preserved the rights of the people, but he would have had no use for that remarkable consultation with these mighty bankers from the east, and there would have been no use for some payers for idle worken. from the east, and there would have been no use for soup houses for idle workmen. It seems to me that this position of the executive is striking the hardest blow possible to silver. It is the greatest aid he could give to the money sharks in crushing out silver. It is virtually saying to congress and the world: 'It is the right of the people to pay these debts in silver, but I do not believe silver is good money and will not insist that these money lords shall take it.'" will not insist that these money lords shall take st."

Has Changed His Belief.

Has Changed His Belief.

At the outset of this controversy Colonel Mynatt said he believed the statement that there was too much silver for it longer to remain money. He then had confidence in Mr. Cleveiand and in the bankers who said that silver was redundant. But they shad falled to show this redundancy. They show that up to its demonetization in 1873 silver was at a premium. All the facts snow that England dominated the policy of the nations which have slowly gone into the demonetization of silver. Our per capita of money shows that we have no recundancy, and if we had all our silver coined now it would add only about $100,000,000 to our present stock of silver money, which is about $500,000,000.

"The United States silver dollar, with 3714 grains, will buy as much in any store in America as a gold dollar will. It is legal tender money just as a gold dollar is. And yet Secretary Smith, laboring under the same apprehensions that bewildered Mr. Sherman, says that the present amount of silver will not hurt, but unlimited coinage will; that it will drive out all the gold and make Mexicans and Chinamen out of us all or reduce us to their level. Mr. Smith also says at present the credit of the government keeps the silver dollar up to twice the value of the bullion put into it. He frequently speaks in this connection of the support of the government in maintaining silver. How are we to understand Mr. Smith on this subject? How does the government support silver? It used to buy it and coin it, but did it ever redeem it? I apprehend that if Mr. Patterson's wise bankers from the east could go to the treasury with silver and demand gold for it all this controversy would end at once. But there being no law that authorizes that I do not understand how the government supports it in making it a legal tender. Well, if that is it the government does the same for gold and there is no more liability upon the government in one case than in the other."

"When the government

ment in one case than in the other."

"When the government passes a law requiring the free coinage of silver it will pass as it does now wherever the stamp takes it. Of course our coin would not be taken abroad any sooner in gold than in silver. But a coin of the United States, whether gold or silver, brought here would be taken the one just as readily as the other. Then practically where can the difference be? If you owe a debt in France today a bank in Atlanta or New York would sell you a check on Paris as well for silver as for gold. For all practical purposes it is equal to gold, while it is a legal tender. It pavs all debts and buvs all things. Can gold do any more? The only trouble that besets us is that when these mighty men from the east have cornered all the gold, there is legal tender silver in the way. It is badly in the'r way because it is everyhody's money and scatters in every direction, while the tendency of gold is to the large banks and money centers."

Of the alleged danger of an influx of silver from Mexico and other countries to be coined here the speaker said:
"Our silver coin is worth as much in Mexico today as it is here. Now if our coin sells for as much there as here, as soon as we enact free coinage, silver bullion would be worth as much there as here, save only the expense of transportation and mintage. And so with all South America, with whom we desire so much to trade. This is tearing out of view entirely the effect of free coinage by us upon the whole civilized world. Coinage would be resumed wherever it has been stopped. If it did not occur at once it would soon. Our use of silver would give us the trade of all people who use it. Mexico, Central and South America and the oriental dominions, unless where controlled by the united kingdom or Germany, would most likely court our trade; this would soon restore silver to its status in 1873.

The Coined Money. Colonel Mynatt then quoted numerous Colonel Mynatt then quoted numerous statistics showing that it is not possible for the production of gold and sliver to supply the money of the world. Colonel Hulsey responded to the invitation and spoke for about thirty minutes. He said that he had listened to the meeting of Colonel Mynatt with a great deal of pleasure and was glad to have an opportunity to publicly thank his friend for the sound advice he had given his hearers and to indorse what had been said. He demanded the restoration of silver to its former place as a money metal.

Colonel Hulsey said that he did not want any dollar that would be worth more than Colonel Hulsey said that he did not want any dollar that would be worth more than another. He said that the silver dollar should be worth as much as the gold dollar and that he hoped to see silver increased in value by legislation until the two metals were brought to a parity. Colonel Hulsey said that the silver question should be studied more thoroughly. There was no doubt, said he, but that silver was the coming metal and that the country was gradually awakening to the country was gradually awakening to the fact that it was daily growing in popu-

A Few Straws.

There have been taking place during the past few months a number of changes in the outward appearance of the Lyman D. Morse Advertising Agency, New York, which have been quite noticeable to those who have called at the offices, but which have not been chronicled.

In the early spring the whole complexion of the outer offices was changed by taking down the partitions on the Nassau street side and thus letting in much more light and naking the office look much larger. Desks were more conveniently arranged and the entire general offices given a very much more limposing appearance. The checking room beyond was improved by clusters of electric lights on the chandeliers, as indeed were the entire offices in this respect, and the whole interior of the establishment was repainted and decorated. But, with all the partitions down, a private room had to be provided for Mr. Morse. This was cleverly done by partitioning off the room between the main office and the 'press' editorial rooms, so as to make a thoroughly roomy sanctum for the head of the house. A telephone system connects Mr. Morse's desk with those in charge of their departments in all parts of the establishment.

These changes, which are only significant of the spirit of enterprise which is con-tablishment.

These changes, which are only significant of the spirit of enterprise which is constantly developing something of value to the patrons of this large house, are after all but straws showing the direction of the trade winds. Never were the prospects for a large business brighter, as we learn from those who know best, and orders are now being booked from a largely increasing line of customers.

It may certainly be said that no advertis ing agency is any more earnestly devoted to its customers, by reason of all its traditions, as well as in following out the settled principles of its present proprietor, than the Lyman D. Morse Advertising Agency, of 38 Park Row, New York.

MPERSONATED AT THE BANKS And the Police Were Instructed To Offer a Reward for Him.

MONEY WAS SECURED IN HIS NAME Le Believes That J. Randolph McElveen of This City, Is the Man Who Passed Off as Evereti.

J. Randolph McElveen, formerly a fash tonable Atlantian well known about town, has been cutting a most interesting dash in a large section of the western and eastern part of the country during the last fifteen onths it seems. The details of a long list of transactions successfully conducted by him have just been brought to light.

J. Randolph McElveen was up to a short time previous to his departure from this efty about fifteen months ago one of the shining lights of the community. He was a high roller in the highest sense of the exsion. He was prominent in matters ocial and stood on the highest pinnacle of success in that line:

McElveen's latest transaction took place in Parsons, Kan., on Wednesday of last week, in which place he succeeded in getting a forged check cashed, made payable to G. B. Everett, of G. B. Everett & Co., the well known grain firm of this city. Mc-Elveen is said to have represented himself as G. B. Everett, and on the credit of that firm obtained $50.50 from a well known grain firm in Parsons on a forged check or draft signed by another grain firm in the west.

The forgery was discovered the following day, but before the victims could have Mc-Elveen apprehended he had gone. A reward of $50 for his arrest was offered by the firm, the language of the reward calling for the arrest and detention of G. B. Everett, of Atlanta, it being supposed by the Parsons people that McElveen was in reality Everett, so smoothly did he work his little scheme, in which he had become proficient.

Several cards offering a reward of $50 for the arrest of the man representing himself as G. B. Everett were received in Atlanta a day or two ago, Mr. Everett himself being the recipient of a card offering a reward for his own arrest on a charge of forgery. The receipt of those cards, which were printed and sent all over the country by the city marshal of Parsons, brought to light the details of McElveen's career since his departure from Atlanta,

Was a "High Roller" Here. The uownfall of McElveen dates back about two years ago, at which time he was what is commonly called a "high roller" in this city. He was one of the best known and most popular young men in the city and stood high in social circles. He came from one of the best families in the state and had every advantage and prestige in his chosen field.

He was for some time engaged in the grain brokerage business and in other pur-suits and had he confined himself to legitimate rules he would have undoubtedly made a success in any of the lines which he followed. He was shrewd, but his daredevil nature cropped out in his transactions, and about fifteen months ago he left Atlanta for other parts. After leaving Atlanta he was next heard of at Brunswick. Ga., where he re-entered the grain brokerage business under the firm name the Mc Elveen Commission Company, his brother J. B. McElveen, being the company of the

His career in Brunswick was short bu decidedly lively. It is said that he soon exhausted his credit in the city by the sea and was compelled to leave there to evade serious trouble. He was next heard from ville, Fla., where he again en tered the commission business and again had to leave on short notice. The Beginning of It.

McElveen remained in those cities only a few months and was next heard of at Sherman, Tex. At that place, it is charged, he called on Pittman Harrison, one of the largest grain dealers in Texas, and represented himself as being G. B. Everett, of Atlanta. He made himself known as representing the G. B. Everett Grain Company, of Atlanta, stating that he was in the west purchasing flour, corn and grain for his firm. He was well received by the dealers in Sherman and on the strength of Mr. Everett's credit obtained a sum of money on a forged check, leaving the city immediately.

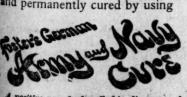

That was the first crooked transaction attributed to McElveen in which he used Mr. Everett's name, but it was not the last, by any means, it is said. Others followed in rapid succession and it was a regular thing for reports of McElveen's actions to be received by Mr. Everett in Atlanta. Each time the victimized firms were promptly telegraphed that the man was a fraud and every effort to bring McElveen to justice was made without success until he arrived in Baltimore.

His Tour of the West.

After leaving Sherman, Tex., McElveen went to Liftle Rock, Ark., where he repeated his representation as being G. B. Everett, and at the latter place obtained money on another check, it is claimed. From Little Rock he went to Kansas City, Mo., and to Leavenworth, Kan., at which places he again worked his game successfully. From Leavenworth he went to Chicago and victimized merchants and others of that city in the same manner. His Tour of the West. others of that city in the same manner. rom Chicago he appears to have gone to it. Jailed at Baltimore. The next heard of McElveen was from Staunton, Va., where he obtained money from P. B. Sudett & Sons Co. on a forged check, as the story goes. That was in July or August of last year. From Staunton McElveen went to Baltimore and Philadelphia and worked both cities. Before aceiphts and worked both cities. Before he succeeded in getting out of the eastern part of the country he was arrested at the instance of Smith, Hammond & Co., of Baltimore, on a charge of forgery. He was placed in jail at Baltimore and remain-ed there nearly two months, being finally released on the payment by his people of the amount he was charged with having ob-tained.

Represented Himself as His Brother When McElveen succeeded in getting out of jail at Baltimore he went to Kentucky, where he remained in comparative isola-tion for several months. He was not heard from between December of last year and August of this, when he turned up in Mat-toon, Ill., where he represented himself as G. W. McElveen, of the firm of G. B. Ev-erett & Co., and where he bought five car-loads of white corn to be shipped to Atlanta getting his check cashed before leaving Mattoon, as usual. He bought the corn from the Mattoon roller mills, and was about to ship the five carloads when the forgery was discovered.

G. B. Everett & Co., of Atlanta, were telegraphed of the man's action in buying corn for that firm, but before a message could be got to Mattoon, denouncing Me-Elveen, or the man representing himself as G. W. McElveen, as a fraud, he had left the place for parts unknown.

What Mr. Everett Says. Mr. G. B. Everett was seen at his office by a Constitution reporter yesterday, and when asked about the matter, said that he had not given it publicity on account of his connection with McElveen's brother. Mr. G. W. McElveen, than whom there is no better citizen in the city. Mr. Everett said that he had been put to great annoyan by J. Randolph McElveen and that he had spent a large sum of money in telegraphing different parties that the man was a fraud. He was unable to understand why he had not been apprehended before, as his actions had gained considerable circulation among the grain dealers of the west.

SECOND DAY'S SESSION.

The Work of the Normal Institute Proceeds Without Interruption.

The second day's session of the normal institute passed without special incident yesterday.

Nearly all the teachers were present and the work of each department proceeded smoothly. Professor W. M. Slaton, the principal of the Boys' High school, was in charge of the literary department and Mrs. A. T. Wise of the business department. The grammar and primary departments were each subdivided into two sections in charge of competent teachers. The purpose of the normal institute is to study the latest and most approved methods of teaching and much instruction has already been derived by the teachers in this way.

The sessions of the institute last for only three hours, beginning at 9 o'clock promptly and closing at noon. 'The work of the institute will continue until Fri-most important railroads in the state.

On account of the destruction of the bridges and the general injury done to the roads leading to Dahlonega caused by the recent floods the reunion of the Fifty-second Georgia Regiment, C. S. Its Superb Facilities for Handling the Exposition Crowds.

INTEND TO MONOPOLIZE THE TRACKS

The Depot at Loyd Street Will Be Put Up in a Very Few Days-Ample Arrangements Being Made.

The Southern has at last decided upon the plan for the handling of the visitors who go by its system out to the exposition grounds, and it is one of the most time saving devices in the matter of railroading that has ever been determined upon in this section of the country.

For some weeks past the question of the handling of the immense crowds that will necessarily be carried by this road during the exposition has been subject to much deliberation and the company has at last hit upon an arrangement that will simplify the matter even to the minutest detail. On account of the large crowds that are expected the matter of hauling the people has been a serious one and it is safe to say that the arrangements as decided upon will amply meet the demands of even a greater patronage than has been counted on. There will be erected out at the exposition grounds within a few feet of the Southern railway building a shed 350 feet long for the reception of passengers. This shed will be provided with three platforms, two leading to the grounds from the cars and one wide enough to accommodate the filling of two trains at a time. The arrangements are such that all arriving at the grounds will leave the trains by the outside platforms and those wishing to return to Atlanta will take the certer platform leading to the out-going trains on either track.

This is done for the purpose of avoiding any accident and also for the better dispatch of trains, running as they will upon a schedule of the most even regularity a schedule of the most even regularity and rapid succession.

There will be double tracks out to the grounds thus affording the most rapid service and eliminate all danger from accidents. Beside the new tracks will be equipped with the Hill electric signal system, which has been cound to work admirably, and the schedule adopted will permit of the free passage of trains in the course of the rush of business without interruption.

Out at the exposition grounds there will be stationed between the tracks a relay engine that when the incoming train has been emptied will be attached and the train been emptied will be attached and the train ready for its return to the city, thus losing no time in the coupling and uncoupling of no time in the coupling and uncoupling of the cars.

At Loyd street, where the starting point will be, there will also be a shed of the same dimensions as the one to be erected at the grounds, 350 feet in length, and the at the grounds, 350 feet in length, and the same arrangement of tracks will be introduced. A relay engine will also be placed at this point and the trains moved with the same rapidity as at the grounds.

It has been found by close connection that the trip to the grounds and back can be made in just thirty minutes. Ten minutes each way and ten minutes for the loading and unleading of the trips and second and second control of the second loading and unloading of the train and the attaching of the relay engines. The distance by the road is something above four miles and when the hauling of such rowds is taken into consideration it is fast time. If necessary the number of rains can be increased and the capacity of the road per day is estimated at one hundred thousand.

day is estimated at one hundred inousand. The system to be used is precisely the same as is used on the elevated systems of New York and Chicago. There will be gates leading at different locations to the trains and tickets will be deposited in boxes and passage gained to the trains. When once on the trains the gates are locked and no stop will be made until the terminus at the exposition grounds ha een reached.

There have been built in the shops of the There have been built in the stops of the Southern fifty cars of an attractive design similar to the summer cars used on the street railroads of the country with the exception that they are to hold ninety-six possessors. six passengers comfortably and each aisl is to be locked by a gate at the start and be opened at the terminus. The cars will bear the words on their sides: "Southern, Atlanta Exposition" and will be painted in red and contrasting color. The cars will be in charge of two trainmen whose duty it will be to unlock the aisles when the termini are reached and these aisles are locked by a lever at the end of the cars.

There will be no side platforms on the cars but the platforms of the two terminal stations will be built so as to be on a level with the floors of the cars, thus avoiding all possibility of accidents.

It was at first thought that the northern trains of the Southern would have to be taken around the city and either brought to the union station or unloaded at the old station at West Mitchell street, but this has been obviated by the above arrange-ment and the trains from the north will come in as usual at the union station. From the advantages presented in the above solution of the question of the traffic out to the exposition grounds it would cer-tainly seem that the road had hit upon a plan that would avoid many if not all th objections that arose when the question of the building of the road out to the grounds was first agitated.

MORE MONEY IS NEEDED.

Everybody Is Asked To Subscribe to the Moody Campaign Fund. If the effort to bring Mr. Moody to Atlanta falls it will be a lasting reproach to the city, say the gentlemen who are inter ested in the movement.

The invitation to Mr. Moody was extended not only by the churches but by all the peo-ple of the city. If Atlanta fails to build the tabernacle Mr. Moody will have to look elsewhere for a place in which to hold his meetings during the month of November. Not only the religious people of Atlanta, but the public generally should rally to the support of the waning cause and subscribe the amount that is necessary to keep up the pride and self-respect of the city. Subscriptions may be sent to The Con-stitution or to any member of the general committee in charge of raising the funds for the campaign. Let everybody come up with a good subscription.

For the Fifty-third Session of the Southern Female College, Manchester.

THE CONSTITUTION: ATLANTA, GA., WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 28, 1895

STUDENTS TO COME FROM MANY STATES

The Largest Enrollment for a Numbe of Years Is Expected at the Cox College This Fall.

The management of the Southern Female college at Manchester are busily engaged with preparations for the fullest opening September 11th perhaps in the long history of the institution. The correspondence this summer has been twice as large as for any previous year. More pupils have registered for places than heretofore at this date. Applications are continuing to pour in, the old friends and pupils and alumnae over the south are earnestly at work for the college, and every indication points to a most prosperous session. One gratifying feature is the unusually large proportion of former pupils who will return. It is already assured that the enrollment for the coming session will greatly exceed that of last year.

The management of the college are making every effort to offer all possible advantages and attractions in the way of female education.

The magnificent new building is equipped with electric lights and bells, waterworks, steam heating, elevator and every modern convenience. New desks, planos and furniture are in place.

HARD ON THE CROPS Stricken With Paralysis.

The Heavy Rains of Late Have Caused Considerable Damage,

COTTON AND CORN BOTH SUFFERING

Weather Man Tells the Story of the Heavy Rains as It Bears Upon the Growing Crops.

The crop bulletin is not very encouraging this week. Complaints have been received from all parts of the state showing that the cotton crop has suffered materially on account of the heavy rains.

Even the corn crop, which has heretofor withstood the assault of the floods, is begin ning to show signs of weakening. If the rains continue to pour down the damage to the crops will amount to a general dis

The following is the report for the week as it comes from the weather bureau: "Too much rain is reported from all porshed badly, and there is also an increase of rust. The boils are opening rapidly, and in some localities prematurely. Corn on bottom lands has also suffered from the rains and a large portion of the fodder crop has been injured and a considerable amount totally runed. Minor crops and vegetables are in a flourishing condition. Northwest Section:

"In the northwest section:

"In the northwest section the temperature has been about normal during the past week, with an excess of rainfall in most locatities. These conditions have been unfavorable to cotton, causing a rank growth of the weed, some rust and much shedding. It has been favorable to late corn, except in the low bottoms where the crop has been injured by flooding. The largest portion of the crop is now made. Farmers have been able to save very little folder and dry weather is now desired for this purpose. The wet weather has caused sorghum to grow rapidly. A high wind which passed over Floyd county on the 19th did considerable damage by blowing down corn and sorghum.

North Section.

North Section.

"The past seven days in the northern counties of the state laive been warm and rainy. The continuous rain has caused cotton to shed badly. Everything else seems to be in better condition than they were last week. Very little fodder has been saved, but it is expected that pulling will become general during the present week. Sorghum making is now the order of the day. Corn is in good condition, except in low bottom lands, where it has had too much moisture.

Northeast Section. "Reports received from the northeastern counties show that there has been an ample supply of rainfall in that part of the state; in fact, too much for cotton and some low land crops. Cotton is shedding badly and numerous planters report rust. As a result of the frequent showers fooder pulling has been delayed and a large quantity or this important forage has rotted in the fields. Corn has, as a rule, been uninjured, except where flooded on bottom lands. Vegetables have improved under the influence of a plentiful supply of moisture.

West Section.

West Section. West Section.

"In the western counties the frequent rains have been unfavorable for the advancement of cotton. It has caused a rapid growth of the plant, shedding and considerable rust. The cotton is opening fast in fields affected by rust. The early corn is all made and the late fields have grown nicely, except in the low bottoms, where flooding has done some damage. Fodder pulling has been delayed and much of that pulled has been spoiled. Cane, sweet potatoes and fall gardens have been benefited.

Central Section. Central Section.

"In the central counties of the state the past week was not very favorable, owing to the prevalence of cloudy weather and rain. The wet weather retarded fodder pulling and caused cotton to take on a very rank growth and shed some of the young forms. In some places cotton is opening very rapidly and picking will commence in earnest in a few days. There is no change in the condition of corn from last week. Turfi ps are beginning to grow and the stands are reported as generally good. All minor crops are in very good condition.

East Section.

"In the eastern counties the past week nas not been a favorable one for crops, except vegetables. The growth and development of cotton has been retarded by frequent, and in many cases, heavy rains. It is opening and a few farmers are already picking the fleecy staple. Some rust and shedding is reported. Fodder pulling has progressed but slowly and a large quantity of fodder has been ruined by too much moisture. Corn, cane and peas have not deteriorated during the week. Rice has improved greatly.

Southwest Section.

"As was the case in many other parts of the state, rains have been too frequent, and generally too heavy for most crops. While vegetables have, as a rule, improved, cotton has not made any rapid stride toward maturity. A few fields of the fleecy staple are, however, ready for picking, but considerable rust and shedding is complained of. Wet weather has caused potato vines to run too long. Rice has improved with an ample supply of rainfail, Gardens, also, have improved slightly. The fruit crop has almost all been gathered, except the late varieties. Southwest Section.

South Section.

"There has been too much rain in the southern section of the state, and the cotton crop has been damaged thereby. The plant continues to throw off its fruit; it is opening fast and farmers are busy picking. Fodder has about all been harvested. Corn crops are generally good—all minor crops are in very good condition. Fall vegetables are in very good condition. Southeast Section.

"Except in the extreme castern counties, where but a few light showers have fallen, rain has been excessive in the southeast section. In Tatnali county hillside farms were much damaged by being badiy washed. The conditions have been slightly unfavorable to cotton, causing it to shed leaves and fruit. Rice that is heading is showing a little blight; some fields are being harvested. Fodder pulling is nearly finished. The rains have been favorable for all root crops."

From The Industrial News, Jackson, Mich. Myron L. Root, a worthy workman, has lived for nearly twenty-five years in the city of Jackson, Mich., at 234 Adrian avenue, where he owns a happy home. His health had fal.ed him for some years back and the loss of his wife, two years ago, filled his cup of misery to overflowing. Grief and worry soon brought on a stroke of paralysis. A few weeks later he had a second stroke, which totally disabled him. He could neither move a limb nor his tead and had to be fed like a baby. The best medical aid was furnished him and his friends did all they could for aim, out human hands seemed powerless to give him relief.

Both physicians who were treating him told him, after a consultation, that there were no means of helping him. He was then but a mere skeleton, without power to move and sourcely strength enough to then but a mere skeieton, without power to move and soarcely strength enough to express his wishes. Death was truly much preferable to a lingering life of such misery and helplessness.

The marvelous cure by Dr. Williams's Pink Pills of a woman afflicted similar to himself, which appeared in The Industrial News, was read to him, and although only a lingering spark of hope existed, he consented to give the medicine a trial, fut insisted that another physician be called, in order to lay the matter before him. The physician was summoned and after a thorough examination of the racent and leaving the history of the case, said that the could promise no relief and alvised him to try Dr. Williams's Pink Pills, which he had often known to succeed when everything else had falled. The pills were procured and he took them according to directions with the most wonderful result. At the end of two weeks he could walk, and at the end of four weeks, although weak, he was perfectly cured and is now able to do all kinds of light work.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitusdane, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after eifect of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, pa'c and sillow complexions, all forms of weakness either in male or female. Pink Pils are sold by all dealers or will be sent postpaid on receipt of price (50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50) by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.
